C. Of C. Told Of Planning On Lake Road

200 Hear Report Progress Of Project To Link With River

The State Highway Department is at work on preparation of plans for the next two stages of the Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway immediately north of East Liverpool, 200 members of the Chamber of Commerce were told Monday night at their spring dinner meeting at the Country Club.

The plans are being prepared in the Division 11 office at New Philadelphia, William McKenna, division deputy director, told the Chamber members. He shared the platform with Guy Neeper, deputy director of the Highway Department for plans and programming, who explored long - range philosophy on new construction to take care of the rapidly expanding population.

WORK SHOULD be completed by this fall on plans for the second stage of the lake-river road, extending from the city limits north to an interchange with State Route 170, McKenna said. The next stage will extend from that point to a spot beyond the junction with Route 267, which meets Route 30 at Apples Corners, he said.

The plans for the third stage are scheduled for completion in August or September of 1962, McKenna said. Issuance of contracts for the next two stages will depend "upon availability of funds," he added.

It's East Liverpool Area Chamber Now

A motion to add the word "area" to the title was approved unanimously Monday night at the spring membership dinner. The change had been proposed by the Board of Trustees in March, but the official action required a vote because it amounted to an amendment in the Chamber's by-laws.

Alvin T. Babb, president, explained before the vote was taken that the word "area" was proposed to indicate the Chamber serves nearby communities such as Midland, Chester, Newell and Wellsville as well as the city proper.

Lake-River Road Group Elects Here

Paul Mossman, manager of the Youngstown Area Chamber of Commerce, was elevated to the presidency of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway Association Monday night at its annual business meeting at the Country Club.

Mossman succeeds Atty. Francis H. Lang of East Liverpool, who served as president of the four-county organization since its inception three years ago.

A. P. Morris of Salem, manager of the Columbiana County Motor Club, was elected vice president, taking Mossman's former place; A. C. Patterson, manager of the Ashtabula Chamber, was returned as secretary and Harold J. Mills, manager of the Warren Area Chamber, was given a new term as treasurer.

Election of officers followed the naming of four directors. Atty. Lang, Patterson, Mills and Mossman all were re-elected. The lake-river group held its business meeting here in connection with a Chamber of Commerce dinner program on area highway construction.

The group is comprised of organizations in Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull and Ashtabula Counties organized to promote the construction of a Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway, linking East Liverpool with Ashtabula.

Atty. Lang explained the organization is "unique in that it is not comprised of individuals, but is an 'association of associations' such as Chambers and auto clubs." The group indirectly represents 80,000 to 90,000 persons in the four counties, he said.

In other business, the group approved for distribution a brochure urging stepped - up construction of the lake-river highway, which has been designated State Route 11.

The four-color folder includes a map of the highway's proposed route. Terming it "the shortest route connecting the Great Lakes with the Ohio River," the brochure calls the highway "The road Ohio now needs most of all."

Midland $10 Job Tax To Start June 1

Borough Preparing For Collection Of Levy On Employed

Preparations are progressing for collecting Midland's $10 a year occupation tax, effective June 1, Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, said.

Some 6,000 who work in Midland, residents and non-residents alike, will pay the tax, expected to produce about $60,000 a year.

Presutti said the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. is putting up notices on its bulletin boards of intention of collection. He said Crucible expects to deduct the full amount, less discount, from salaried employes June 24 and from maintenance and production workers June 27.

Businesses are being contacted individually for a list of employes. Businesses will be billed with the employer responsible for the collection from employes, Presutti said.

A 2 per cent discount will be allowed during June when payments will be $9.80. During August and September, there will be no discount. Beginning Oct. 1, a 5 per cent penalty will be added to late payments.

The tax has aroused a controversy. The Tri - State Citizens' Committee, represented by Atty. R. Clifton Hood of Beaver Falls may appeal to the Pennsylvania State Superior Court but not until Judge Robert McCrary has handed down an opinion.

The judge in an order April 28 upheld the tax and the group appealed. An opinion by the judge had not been given as of Monday. Midland Council adopted the tax Feb. 23.

Kennedy Goes To Canada Today On Goodwill Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy takes off today on a good will mission to Canada, his first trip outside the country since his inauguration.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy plan to leave by jet for Ottawa in mid-afternoon.

The trip officialy is a state visit, with appropriate receptions and social functions. But it bears all the earmarks of a goodwill visit that will enable Kennedy and Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker to discuss informally a broad range of topics.

Diefenbaker visited Washington in February. The top-level talks that began then will resume Wednesday in Canada's stately Parliament buildings. The President and prime minister have scheduled 2½ hours of private conversation Wednesday morning.

In the afternoon, Kennedy addresses a joint session of Parliament. Later he confers with U.S. Ambassador Livingston T. Merchant.

The President could take advantage of his talks with Diefenbaker to sound out Canadian sentiment on Kennedy's reported interest in meeting face-to-face next month with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Western Hemisphere relations are certain to occupy most of the business hours of the two-day visit. Canada is seriously pondering membership in the Organization of American States, which now embraces the United States and Latin-American countries.

Only last week, Canadian Foreign Minister Howard C. Green suggested that Canada could mediate differences between the United States and Cuba. Canada, while no admirer of the Castro regime, has been less exercised than the United States over Castro's threat to other nations of the hemisphere.

Work Party Begins Removal Of Wickets

A work party from the Pittsburgh District of the U. S. Engineers Corps began work Monday on removal of wickets of Dam 7 at Midland preparatory to demolition of the last of the three dams made obsolete by the superdam at Stratton.

The engineers sent in a fleet of two derrickboats, three tender flats and the motor vessel Chartiers and is working three shifts around the clock.

This phase will take about two weeks after which a contractor will clear the remaining structures from the river by blasting.

Ohio House Vote Set On Funds Veto

Bids To Override DiSalle Rejection Of Cities' Money

COLUMBUS. Ohio (AP)—Today was "do or die day" for Republican attempts to override Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's veto of a bill giving local governments another 15 million a year in highway money.

GOP majority leaders made their decision Monday night.

The House, where the bill originated and passed 109-25 March 8, was to take it up first. Holding an 82-55 House margin, the GOP was expected to have little difficulty finding enough Democratic help to get the necessary 84 votes; the three-fifths needed to override.

In the Senate the situation was a little tighter, because 23 votes are needed and Republicans—while in the majority—hold only 20 seats. But, since Sen. C. Stanley Mechem, veteran GOP majority leader from Athens County, called for the attempt, it was obvious Republicans in the Senate believed they could get enough votes from the other side of the aisle.

The Senate passed the bill 24-13 April 19 with a floor amendment by Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Allen, that would make it effective next Jan. 1. The House agreed to Senate changes 94-32, and then came the DiSalle veto.

The bill is called one of the three most important of this session, the others being the jobless pay bill which DiSalle vetoed in March and the budget bill passed by the House last week.

If it becomes law, about $15 million—now withheld annually from motor vehicle license fees to help operate the Highway Safety Department—would be distributed to counties (about $10.5 million), citise and villages ($3.7 million) and townships $750,000). These governments already get the rest of this fee income.

The Ohio Highway Department has battled it all the way because the safety department would have to be financed from the last two cents of the gasoline tax.

This is revenue of which the Highway Department has had exclusive use since the tax was imposed two years ago.

Eight other measures were scheduled to receive Senate attention, including two bills designed to replace the community colleges bill killed in March by the Senate Education Committee.

Four measures were set to be voted on by the House.

The Senate met for only a half-hour Monday as the 20th work week of this session got under way. The 567th Senate bill of the year was introduced. Sponsored by Sen. Donald C. Steiner, R-Stark, it provides for voluntary arrangements for donation of one's body to medical and educational institutions after death.

Senators completed passage of four bills, including ones which would:

Allow Ohioans to deduct the five-cents-per-pack tax they pay on cigarettes from their federal income tax.

Permit a vote on creation of county library districts by petition signed by 10 per cent of the voters.

The House was in session almost two hours, passing bills, among others, to:

Require motor vehicle sales agencies to decide whether to remain closed on Saturday or Sunday, and abide by the day selected for a minimum of a year's time.

Make anchor brackets for seat belts a requirement on the front seat of all cars manufactured after this year for sale or other use in Ohio.

Geneva Conference Opens

West May Seek To Ban Arms Shipments To Laos

GENEVA (AP) — The international conference on Laos opens today with the West expected to seek a ban on all arms shipments to the Southeast Asian kingdom in an attempt to solidify the shaky truce there.

The U.S., British, Soviet and French foreign ministers were reported to have reached tacit agreement to avoid raising issues that might put new obstacles in the way of negotiations in Laos between the warring factions for establishment of a single coalition government. So far the talks in Laos are still in the preliminary sparring stage.

They were expected to work behind the scenes, however, to promote a political union of the three rival factions in the kingdom—the pro-Western Vientiane regime, the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and Prince Souvanna Phouma's self-styled neutralists, who share Soviet and Red Chinese backing with the Pathet Lao.

An American concession authorized by President Kennedy broke a procedural deadlock to clear the way for the opening of the conference, four days late.

The United States, after opposing seating of Pathet Lao delegates at the conference, gave in rather than have the conference collapse. The three big powers agreed all three Laotian groups would be admitted as advisers or observers.

There was still one holdout, the Western-backed royal government in Vientiane. Its chief delegate in Geneva, Interior Minister Leuam Insisiengmay, said he would boycott the conference because the Pathet Lao and Souvanna Phouma's representatives were also invited.

Nevertheless Britain and Russia, as cochairmen of the conference, made plans to get the parley under way this afternoon regardless of Vientiane's attitude.

The United States has decided to go to the conference table despite the boycott by the Laotian government, informants said.

The opening session will be devoted to speeches by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home. U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk is scheduled to speak Wednesday.

To Dissolve All Ruling Assemblies

American Officials Demand Return Of Control To Premier

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Chiefs of South Korea's armed forces who seized power in a nearly bloodless coup today defied the United States and ordered the National Assembly and all local government assemblies dissolved.

American authorities in South Korea demanded that control be returned to the elected regime of Premier John M. Chang. But the leaders of the coup said in a proclamation they would take over all government operations.

The proclamation banned all political and social activities and said Chang and his entire cabinet would be arrested.

Backed by tanks, heavily armed infantry, marines and paratroops swept into Seoul at 4 a.m. and seized control of government buildings. Within a few hours the leaders of the coup claimed control of the country.

Local newspapers said five or six national policemen were killed in a clash on Seoul's outskirts when they opposed the pre-dawn entry of coup forces into the capital. Otherwise only scattered shooting was heard in Seoul, and there were no reports of other casualties.

No disturbances were reported from other cities or from the countryside.

The whereabouts of Premier Chang, 62, could not be learned, but unconfirmed reports said he and his cabinet were under arrest.

The revolutionary committee directing the coup was headed by the army chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, 38. The other members were the chiefs of the air force, marines and navy.

The junta said its aims were to strengthen the nation's anti-Communism, wipe out corruption, improve the economy and continue close relations with the United States. It said "fresh civilian politics can start" when the revolution is completed.

But U.S. Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green and Gen. Carter Magruder, U.S. Commander of U.N. forces in the country, were blunt in their opposition to the coup.

"I wish to make it emphatically clear," said Green in a statement, "that the United States supports the constitutional government of Korea as elected by the people of this republic."

Magruder said he expected the chiefs of the Korean armed forces—who are under Magruder's operational control as part of the U.N. force—to "use their authority and influence to see that control is immediately turned back to the lawful government authorities and that order is restored in the armed forces."

Windstorm Hits Building At Wellsville

Rain And Hail Pelt District But City Is Spared Damage

Hail ranging in size from peas to small marbles rattled on roofs and car tops but the city was spared damage this time. Last week's storm was more violent with more extensive damage.

At Wellsville, the entire side of a brick home was leveled and the firewall was blown off another building. It crashed through a garage below. No estimate has been made of the damage.

Numerous chimneys were toppled from homes, roofs were damaged and television antennaes twisted, according to Fire Chief Robert Lewis. Electric wires were downed at several locations, but not as many nor as serious as a week ago, he said. Wellsville was blacked out for almost five hours by the previous storm which ripped out main feeder lines a week ago.

The side was blown from the two-story home of Frank D. Turner, 339 Riverside Ave. It is a double home and the side which was damaged was unoccupied.

Turner, who occupies the other section, was remodeling the damaged part. Lewis said that a chimney apparently was first blown from the home. It went through the roof, allowing the wind to get inside.

The side then kicked out and

Hancock And Midland Voting Termed Light

Voting was termed light this morning in Midland and in Hancock County.

Midland electors were voting for nominations for borough offices as part of Pennsylvania's primary and Hancock residents will decide a $5¼-million bond issue for a school expansion program in their special election.

At the First Precinct at the Borough Building at Midland, 36 Republicans and 44 Democrats had voted at mid-morning but observers said the turnout will be larger this afternoon. The polls will cose at 9 p. m.

A forenoon check in Hancock showed exceptionally light voting in some precincts, ranging from 18 to 45 in Chester. Newell and Weirton also reported a light turnout. Polls will close at 8:30.

House Adopts Plea For U.S. Ware Tariff

COLUMBUS — The Ohio House wants Congress to impose tariff regulations on the importation of clay products as an aid to the state's sagging ceramics industry.

It passed, 94-9, a resolution cosponsored by Reps. Clarence L. Wetzel and J. Warren Bettis, Columbiana County Republicans, and Rep. Robert H. Longsworth, R-Carroll, on Monday.

The document cites Ohio's reputation as a producer of quality clay products and her No. 1 position among the states in the manufacture of dinnerware until 1953.

"Due to the competition from the importation of low - priced dinnerware from low-wage foreign countries . . . seven Ohio potteries have been forced out of business through bankruptcy or voluntary liquidation since that time," the resolution declares.

"Thousands of skilled Ohio citizens, both men and women, have lost their means of livelihood, many of whom have not been able to find other employment," it continues.

The six remaining potteries are operating below their total capacity and can be saved only by congressional tariff relief, the resolution says.

Since it was offered as a joint resolution, it now will go to the Senate for action.

Walker Says TV Set Was 'Borrowed'

Verdict Seen Today In Officer's Trial On Larceny Charge

Police Lt. Thomas Walker, charged with larceny in the removal of a television set from the police department offices, and the Church Alley woman to whom he presented it testified Monday at his trial at Lisbon.

A Common Pleas Court jury of nine women and three men was expected to return a verdict late today in the trial which began yesterday before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

On the witness stand yesterday, Lt. Walker declared he had borrowed the portable set to permit Mrs. Audrey Demoratz of Church Alley to use it while hers was being repaired.

The set, being held at the City Hall as evidence in a burglary of a Dresden Ave. appliance store in which three Warren men were charged, was taken from the office of Police Chief Americo Radeschi.

Mrs. Demoratz was the first witness called by the defense after Prosecutor G. William Brokaw rested the state's case yesterday afternoon at 1.

Mrs. Demoratz, who said the officer visited her apartment several times a week, brought the set one Sunday evening, saying she could use it while hers was being repaired.

She said Lt. Walker was going to return it when she moved to her mother's home.

Chief Radeschi testified yesterday morning concerning the loss

Funeral services have been set for Beaver County Commissioner Gordon Camp, 57, and John Lickver Jr., 18, Geneva College student, whose bodies were found Monday afternoon in their wrecked plane 10 miles north of Carlisle, Pa., solving the mystery of their disappearance on a flight to Harrisburg.

The plane crashed in a heavily wooded region near Wagner's Gap Rd. between Carlisle and Dungannon. It was discovered from the air first by Leonard J. Chehutski, aeronautical inspector of the state police.

The single - engine Cessna 172 had been missing since the two left Beaver County Airport in Chippewa Township Friday at 6 a. m. More than 250 planes had searched for the two over the weekend.

Both were to have attended an industrial development conference in Harrisburg with Commissioners James E. Ross and Sam McCune, who went by train.

Camp had been unable to go Thursday because he was a speaker at a Democratic rally in Rochester that evening. There he invited Paul Doughty, clerk in the commissioners' office, and District Atty. Richard P. Steward to fly to Harrisburg with him. Both were unable to go.

Camp was a well-known sportsman and was secretary of the

400 Recalled At Crucible

Melting Operations Best In Over Year

The Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. since May 1 has recalled more than 400 employes who had been furloughed, a company spokesman said today.

The recall is largely due to accelerated melt shop production. There are five open hearths and four electric furnaces in operation, he said.

This is the first nine-furnace operation since March 23, 1960, when there was six open hearths and three electric furnaces in service, he said.

Present employment was estimated unofficially at over 5,000.

So far the talks in Laos are still in the preliminary sparring stage.

They were expected to work behind the scenes, however, to promote a political union of the three rival factions in the kingdom—the pro-Western Vientiane regime, the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and Prince Souvanna Phouma's self-styled neutralists, who share Soviet and Red Chinese backing with the Pathet Lao.

An American concession authorized by President Kennedy broke a procedural deadlock to clear the way for the opening of the conference, four days late.

The United States, after opposing seating of Pathet Lao delegates at the conference, gave in rather than have the conference collapse. The three big powers agreed all three Laotian groups would be admitted as advisers or observers.

There was still one holdout, the Western-backed royal government in Vientiane. Its chief delegate in Geneva, Interior Minister Leuam Insisiengmay, said he would boycott the conference because the Pathet Lao and Souvanna Phouma's representatives were also invited.

Nevertheless Britain and Russia, as cochairmen of the conference, made plans to get the parley under way this afternoon regardless of Vientiane's attitude.

The United States has decided to go to the conference table despite the boycott by the Laotian government, informants said.

The opening session will be devoted to speeches by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home. U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk is scheduled to speak Wednesday.

Windstorm Hits Building At Wellsville

Hail ranging in size from peas to small marbles rattled on roofs and car tops but the city was spared damage this time. Last week's storm was more violent with more extensive damage.

At Wellsville, the entire side of a brick home was leveled and the firewall was blown off another building. It crashed through a garage below. No estimate has been made of the damage.

Numerous chimneys were toppled from homes, roofs were damaged and television antennaes twisted, according to Fire Chief Robert Lewis. Electric wires were downed at several locations, but not as many nor as serious as a week ago, he said. Wellsville was blacked out for almost five hours by the previous storm which ripped out main feeder lines a week ago.

The side was blown from the two-story home of Frank D. Turner, 339 Riverside Ave. It is a double home and the side which was damaged was unoccupied.

Turner, who occupies the other section, was remodeling the damaged part. Lewis said that a chimney apparently was first blown from the home. It went through the roof, allowing the wind to get inside.

The side then kicked out and

Hancock And Midland Voting Termed Light

Voting was termed light this morning in Midland and in Hancock County.

Midland electors were voting for nominations for borough offices as part of Pennsylvania's primary and Hancock residents will decide a $5¼-million bond issue for a school expansion program in their special election.

At the First Precinct at the Borough Building at Midland, 36 Republicans and 44 Democrats had voted at mid-morning but observers said the turnout will be larger this afternoon. The polls will cose at 9 p. m.

A forenoon check in Hancock showed exceptionally light voting in some precincts, ranging from 18 to 45 in Chester. Newell and Weirton also reported a light turnout. Polls will close at 8:30.

House Adopts Plea For U.S. Ware Tariff

COLUMBUS — The Ohio House wants Congress to impose tariff regulations on the importation of clay products as an aid to the state's sagging ceramics industry.

It passed, 94-9, a resolution cosponsored by Reps. Clarence L. Wetzel and J. Warren Bettis, Columbiana County Republicans, and Rep. Robert H. Longsworth, R-Carroll, on Monday.

The document cites Ohio's reputation as a producer of quality clay products and her No. 1 position among the states in the manufacture of dinnerware until 1953.

"Due to the competition from the importation of low - priced dinnerware from low-wage foreign countries . . . seven Ohio potteries have been forced out of business through bankruptcy or voluntary liquidation since that time," the resolution declares.

"Thousands of skilled Ohio citizens, both men and women, have lost their means of livelihood, many of whom have not been able to find other employment," it continues.

The six remaining potteries are operating below their total capacity and can be saved only by congressional tariff relief, the resolution says.

Since it was offered as a joint resolution, it now will go to the Senate for action.

Walker Says TV Set Was 'Borrowed'

Verdict Seen Today In Officer's Trial On Larceny Charge

Police Lt. Thomas Walker, charged with larceny in the removal of a television set from the police department offices, and the Church Alley woman to whom he presented it testified Monday at his trial at Lisbon.

A Common Pleas Court jury of nine women and three men was expected to return a verdict late today in the trial which began yesterday before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

On the witness stand yesterday, Lt. Walker declared he had borrowed the portable set to permit Mrs. Audrey Demoratz of Church Alley to use it while hers was being repaired.

The set, being held at the City Hall as evidence in a burglary of a Dresden Ave. appliance store in which three Warren men were charged, was taken from the office of Police Chief Americo Radeschi.

Mrs. Demoratz was the first witness called by the defense after Prosecutor G. William Brokaw rested the state's case yesterday afternoon at 1.

Mrs. Demoratz, who said the officer visited her apartment several times a week, brought the set one Sunday evening, saying she could use it while hers was being repaired.

She said Lt. Walker was going to return it when she moved to her mother's home.

Beaver Mystery Solved

Commissioner, Youth Found Dead In Air Crash

Funeral services have been set for Beaver County Commissioner Gordon Camp, 57, and John Licker Jr., 18, Geneva College student, whose bodies were found Monday afternoon in their wrecked plane 10 miles north of Carlisle, Pa., solving the mystery of their disappearance on a flight to Harrisburg.

The plane crashed in a heavily wooded region near Wagner's Gap Rd. between Carlisle and Dungannon. It was discovered from the air first by Leonard J. Chehutski, aeronautical inspector of the state police.

The single - engine Cessna 172 had been missing since the two left Beaver County Airport in Chippewa Township Friday at 6 a. m. More than 250 planes had searched for the two over the weekend.

Both were to have attended an industrial development conference in Harrisburg with Commissioners James E. Ross and Sam McCune, who went by train.

Camp had been unable to go Thursday because he was a speaker at a Democratic rally in Rochester that evening. There he invited Paul Doughty, clerk in the commissioners' office, and District Atty. Richard P. Steward to fly to Harrisburg with him. Both were unable to go.

Camp was a well-known sportsman and was secretary of the

To Dissolve All Ruling Assemblies

American Officials Demand Return Of Control To Premier

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Chiefs of South Korea's armed forces who seized power in a nearly bloodless coup today defied the United States and ordered the National Assembly and all local government assemblies dissolved.

American authorities in South Korea demanded that control be returned to the elected regime of Premier John M. Chang. But the leaders of the coup said in a proclamation they would take over all government operations.

The proclamation banned all political and social activities and said Chang and his entire cabinet would be arrested.

Backed by tanks, heavily armed infantry, marines and paratroops swept into Seoul at 4 a.m. and seized control of government buildings. Within a few hours the leaders of the coup claimed control of the country.

Local newspapers said five or six national policemen were killed in a clash on Seoul's outskirts when they opposed the pre-dawn entry of coup forces into the capital. Otherwise only scattered shooting was heard in Seoul, and there were no reports of other casualties.

No disturbances were reported from other cities or from the countryside.

The whereabouts of Premier Chang, 62, could not be learned, but unconfirmed reports said he and his cabinet were under arrest.

The revolutionary committee directing the coup was headed by the army chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, 38. The other members were the chiefs of the air force, marines and navy.

The junta said its aims were to strengthen the nation's anti-Communism, wipe out corruption, improve the economy and continue close relations with the United States. It said "fresh civilian politics can start" when the revolution is completed.

But U.S. Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green and Gen. Carter Magruder, U.S. Commander of U.N. forces in the country, were blunt in their opposition to the coup.

"I wish to make it emphatically clear," said Green in a statement, "that the United States supports the constitutional government of Korea as elected by the people of this republic."

Magruder said he expected the chiefs of the Korean armed forces—who are under Magruder's operational control as part of the U.N. force—to "use their authority and influence to see that control is immediately turned back to the lawful government authorities and that order is restored in the armed forces."

400 Recalled At Crucible

Melting Operations Best In Over Year

The Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. since May 1 has recalled more than 400 employes who had been furloughed, a company spokesman said today.

The recall is largely due to accelerated melt shop production. There are five open hearths and four electric furnaces in operation, he said.

This is the first nine-furnace operation since March 23, 1960, when there was six open hearths and three electric furnaces in service, he said.

Present employment was estimated unofficially at over 5,000.

C. Of C. Told Of Planning On Lake Road

Hollow - West End Freeway also represents the first stage of the lake - river road. The city freeway will form the southern terminal of the new highway between East Liverpool and Ashtabula.

The lake - river project is included in a long-range program for Columbiana County extending over a five-year period that started last July 1 in which a total of $9,895,000 will be allocated, McKenna said.

A TOTAL of 7.7 miles of the river-lake highway now is under contract in the Ashtabula area, McKenna added. Concluding, McKenna urged formation of a countywide agency to co-ordinate highway planning for the area

Highway planners are looking ahead to 1980, when Ohio's population is expected to hit 13,300,000 and motor vehicle registration will total 6,800,000, Neeper told the Chamber. At present, the state's population is 9,000,000 and it has about 4,200,000 cars registered, he said. Some forecasters expect the state's population will hit 18,900,000 by 1980, he added.

"Since the state's statutes prohibit the addition of more than 200 miles to the highway system in any one year, it is apparent that the capacity of many miles of existing highway must be increased to handle the expected increase in driving," Neeper said.

"IF WE CAN assume that the traffic hazards will increase in geometric progression to the number of vehicles, then it is not difficult to see that we must design a great deal more safety into our highways."

To modernize the state system, the State Highway Department would like to widen all heavily-traveled roads of less than 20-foot width to a minimum of 24 feet, but this project would require $30 million a year, Neeper said.

The department is concentrating on a "bare roads" program to keep highways free of snow and ice in winter; replacement of weak, narrow and low clearance bridges; correction of "built -in" hazards on some highway stretches and elimination of railroad grade crossing hazards, Neeper said.

A total of 386 bridges have been corrected or replaced and the remaining 697 will be contracted for by 1965, Neeper added. Overall, the work will cost $84 million, he said.

Eighty "accident-prone" locations have been corrected since 1959. Construction of limited access freeways will help eliminate most of the major causes of accidents, Neeper said. The modern highways help "foolproof" the five major violations: Speeding, failure to yield the right-of-way, driving on the wrong side of the road, improper passing and ignoring stop signs, he said.

WITH INCREASED urbanization of the state, the need for expressways will grow, Neeper predicted.

Neeper, McKenna and guests were introduced by Atty. Francis H. Lang, chairman of the highway committee, which was in charge of the program. Alvin T. Babb, president, presided.

The Chamber paid tribute to local and county officials who had a hand in making the city freeway project a reality from its inception in 1955.

ALSO INTRODUCED were former Mayors E. Allan McKeever and Fred P. Lawrence; William Y. Orr, Robert W. Sample and A. Stanley Kidder, councilmen in 1958-59; Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, City Engineer George S. Bloomgren, Commissioner Galen Greenisen and R. Max Gard, former commissioner.

McKenna was accompanied by four other Division 11 officials: William A. Miller, chief of construction; Robert Jenkins, in charge of planning and design; Robert M. Short, right-of-way engineer, and Richard Robinson, public relations officer.

Invocation was by the Rev. Albert Rodenhausen, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Babb thanked Ralph Finley and John Pinney, co-chairmen of the banquet committee, which arranged the dinner.

Auto Crashes Leave 5 Hurt

Two small Pittsburgh girls were injured when their mother's car struck an embankment on Route 39 near Highlandtown Monday night, and two drivers and a boy were hurt in a crash near Columbiana yesterday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A 1955 coach driven by Patricia Ann Jenkins, 32, of Pittsburgh veered off Route 39 about five miles southeast of Salineville at 8 p. m. when she lost control, officers said.

The car went off the right side of the road, into a ditch, back across the road and into an embankment. Some fence posts on property of Mary Bunton were downed, the patrol added.

Barbara Jenkins, 10, suffered abrasions of the cheek, and Patricia M. Jenkins, 8, received a laceration of the head. The car received considerable damage, the patrol reported.

In the other mishap yesterday afternoon about 4, a car driven by Howard Sarver, 20, of Columbiana R. D. 1 rammed the rear of one operated by Miss Esterly Travis, 27, of Columbiana on Route 14 Alternate about a mile west of the village.

Miss Travis was making a left turn when Sarver's car struck hers from behind. She suffered a possible back injury, a passenger in her car, Jeffery McMaster, 7, of Columbiana R. D. 1 received a concussion, and Sarver had a bruised nose.

Sarver was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Mishap On Lisbon St. Damages 2 City Autos

The crash involved a 1954 four-door sedan driven by Joseph G. Geisse III, 22, of 800 Spring Grove Ave. and a 1955 sedan operated by Lawrence T. Marshall, 52, of 316 Ridgeway Ave., officers said.

Both autos were northbound, officers reported. Geisse said Marshall swerved off the street to the left, then pulled back again as his car passed. There was damage to the left rear fender of Geisse's car and the right front fender and bumper of Marshall's auto, police said.

School Payments May Put General Fund In The Red

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's general fund should show about $6 million when the bookkeeping year ends June 30, Finance Director James H. Maloon says, but the amount to be set aside for school payments could leave it technically in the red.

Maloon appeared before the Senate Finance Committee Monday night as a hearing opened on the $2 billion budget bill. The measure provides the money to operate Ohio's state government from July 1 of this year until June 30, 1963.

When Maloon spoke of the $6 million expected to be shown in the general fund, senators noted that more than $16 million must be budgeted monthly for the school payments. In this case, the total won't actually leave the fund until August, when the next school payment is made.

School Payments May Put General Fund In The Red

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's general fund should show about $6 million when the bookkeeping year ends June 30, Finance Director James H. Maloon says, but the amount to be set aside for school payments could leave it technically in the red.

Maloon appeared before the Senate Finance Committee Monday night as a hearing opened on the $2 billion budget bill. The measure provides the money to operate Ohio's state government from July 1 of this year until June 30, 1963.

When Maloon spoke of the $6 million expected to be shown in the general fund, senators noted that more than $16 million must be budgeted monthly for the school payments. In this case, the total won't actually leave the fund until August, when the next school payment is made.

Victim Tells 2 Stories

Youth Suffers Exposure In Strange River Incident

A 14-year-old LaCroft boy who staggered into a truck terminal garage on the riverfront Monday night — exhausted, wringing wet and almost unclothed — told a story of being stripped and tossed into the river "by some other fellows" but later insisted he had fallen into the stream while fishing.

Thomas McKee, son of Mrs. Eileen Oates of 7th Ave., is in City Hospital today, suffering exposure as a result of the experience. His mother said she has not talked to him at length about the incident. The boy's report to police said he slipped off a rock and fell into the river while fishing.

William Stacey of Shadyside Ave., service manager, and Keith Goodballet of St. George St. were at work in the garage of YELP Service, Inc., on the River Rd. about 9:40 last night when the boy staggered into the building, obviously exhausted, soaked with water and clad only in an undershirt and shorts.

When the boy started to collapse onto the floor, Stacey shouted at Goodballet, who caught him and broke his fall. The YELP employes placed the boy on an improvised couch — an old auto seat — and wrapped him in paper and a painter's drop cloth to warm him.

When the boy recovered enough to talk, Stacey asked what had happened to him.

"They threw me in the river," Stacey said the boy replied. Asked about his missing clothes, the boy replied: "They threw them in, too."

When Stacey asked who was responsible, the boy replied: "Some other fellows." Meanwhile, Stacey had summoned police. Learning that officers were on their way, the boy said his first story was "all a joke" and insisted he had fallen into the river while fishing.

Patrolman Leonard Richard took the boy to the hospital. His condition today was described as "good."

Stacey said when the boy first appeared at the YELP garage he seemed to be in shock. He obviously was exhausted, as though he had swum a great distance, Stacey added.

Storm

the entire wall collapsed. Firemen remained on standby at the home and kept the area roped off as there was danger of the entire building collapsing.

The wall was one of the main supports for the floors, which could have dropped and kicked out the other walls. The Turner family was evacuated.

Emergency repairs were made and the section covered over with canvass. The floors were braced with temporary studs.

About half a block away, the firewall was blown from the top of the Turner Market Building on Main St. between 3rd and 4th Sts. It is owned by Kenneth Jackson of Jennings Ave., East Liverpool.

The wind ripped out a 25 - foot section of the 4-foot high brick wall at the rear. It plunged down into a garage below, literally causing it to disintegrate, firemen said.

The walls of the garage were bulged out and against a home next door. Some of the lumber went through a window.

Hit for the second straight Monday by storm damage, Ohio Power Co. crews worked until 11 last night repairing fallen high voltage wires.

Interruptions ranged from 1½ to 5 hours, Ray Barrett, distribution superintendent, said.

The longest interruption occurred in the area toward West Point after a 12,000-volt power line burned down on Route 267 near Annesley Rd., Barrett said.

Lines carrying 4,000-volts were down at 9th and Wood Sts. and 18th and Main Sts. in Wellsville, and at Huston and Laura Aves. and W. 9th and May Sts. in East Liverpool.

In addition, the company also received the usual complaints about fallen service lines and TV antennas.

City firemen had no report of any storm damage.

Actually, there was a series of thunderstorms. The first hit in the East Liverpool vicinity about 6, with gusty winds, heavy rain then hail. Another thunderstorm brought more rain an hour later.

When the skies cleared, there was a double - rainbow in the East. Skies darkened again and more rain fell later in the evening.

Montgomery Island Dam registered 0.52 inch of rain from the series. Dam 7 at Midland said the storms soon lowered the temperature after the high of 86 degrees between 3 and 4 p. m.

The hail apparently fell in a narrow belt as none was reported at Midland and only a few hailstones in the rural areas. There was no crop damage.

Today's high will be a cooler 56 to 62.

There may be scattered frost tonight with a low range of 36 to 42 degrees. Wednesday will be fair and warmer.

LISBON — High wind Monday night felled a large tree near the curb at the home of Leo Capehart, 706 N. Market St., and the top branches struck the roof of the house as it fell. Man Who Took Pills Recovering

Chester Kondratowicz of Groveland, Mass., was found in his car on Main St., Salineville, just before noon yesterday by Police Chief Cleo Mellott.

The chief said he had been watching the man for about an hour because he was visiting various stores and acting suspiciously, driving off after each visit.

Chief Mellott said he found Kondratowicz in his car on McClellan Hill about noon, incoherent, with his money and a note beside him. Mellott said the man had taken "two or three" bottles of pills and other medicine, and he was rushed to the hospital where he was in "critical" condition for some time yesterday.

Kondratowicz is in a radio-television business, the chief said.

Family Absent, Fire Hits House

EAST PALESTINE — Three fire companies battled a blaze in a four-room frame home along Route 14 midway between here and Columbiana, which broke out about 1 a. m. while the family was absent.

The structure has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Miller, who have been visiting relatives here while the water pump at the home is being repaired.

Fire Chief Glenn Libert, who gave no estimate of the loss, said the cause of the fire was not determined.

Firemen from here and from Negley and New Waterford fought the blaze. The home is behind the Casa Loma night club. Water from the club's swimming pool was pumped to douse the flames, which destroyed the interior of the home.

2 Beaver Men Fined In Delinquency Case

LISBON — Two Beaver County men were fined and given suspended jail sentences Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on charges of contributing to the delinquency of three minor boys by furnishing them beer.

The Pennsylvania juveniles, two 16 and one 17, were turned over to Beaver County authorities for prosecution after admitting the drinking. The youths were cited by the sheriff's department.

End Of Curb Meter Urged For Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — City Council, which has been discussing the need to purchase new parking meters, Monday night received a surprise counter-proposal from some merchants to eliminate meters altogether.

Councilman Robert Smith relayed a proposal from a group of businessmen, asking that the metering program, started 12 years ago, be ended.

The group said the downtown area is placed at a disadvantage by nearby shopping centers where there are no meters, and that the present meters have not been operating efficiently in recent months.

Income, they claimed, has fallen from $600 a month to some $300.

Councilmen agreed to meet with the proponents June 5 to discuss the matter. Councilmen said elimination of the meters would trim some $6,000 from the city revenue, and that open parking would probably result from the original complaint that brought metering — that merchants clog the downtown streets with their own cars.

of the set and read a statement from Mrs. Demoratz. The chief said the set was discovered missing about Feb. 11, and was located March 2 at her home.

Lt. Walker, he said, signed a statement that he had given her the set to use for three weeks.

The chief said the officer came to his home the evening the set was located and asked to know what was "going on." Walker said he had "borrowed" the set to give to a friend whose set had "blown up."

Chief Radeschi said no charges were filed against the lieutenant on condition that he abide by certain terms laid down by the police chief. Walker was given a 30-day suspension from duty without pay, and the actual larceny charge was made by the April Grand Jury which supboenaed its own witnesses to return the indictment.

Other prosecution witnesses were Capt. Robert Pyle, who helped recover the set; Sam Lako of Chester, who identified the set as one stolen from Central Appliance Nov. 18, 1960, and later recovered in Warren, and Mrs. Joan Starr and Mrs. Catherine Martin, Meter Maids on duty at the City Hall when the set was removed.

Lt. Walker followed Mrs. Demoratz on the witness stand, and stated the set was only loaned and was to be returned. He said he thought the issue was settled when he received the furlough without pay.

Character witnesses testifying for Walker included his father, Thomas Walker, along with Councilman John Melvin, Don Eckert and A. J. Brown.

Judge Buzzard excused the jury at 2:45 p. m. until this afternoon because Atty. Frank Springer, defense counsel, had a previous commitment this morning.

Closing arguments were to be heard at 1 p. m. today, followed by Judge Buzzard's charge to the jury and the start of deliberations.

Hearings Continued On Gambling Charges

Hearings have been continued by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland for the owner of a Newell tavern and two East Liverpool men charged with gaming by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

At the request of the defendants, the hearings scheduled Monday night were continued for a week by the squire. They are scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

Wallace J. Simcox, 36, owner of the Stutz Bar, is charged with permitting gaming on the premises. Walter F. Rodfong, 28, of Homewood Ave., and Stanley D. Simcox, 33, of 317 Jackson St., East Liverpool are charged with betting and playing at gaming.

The charges were filed by sheriff's deputies Monday at 1 a. m. in the tavern on Washington St., Newell. Deputies said they broke up a card game.

Brown has accepted a position with the Dow Chemical Co. at Midland, Mich.

Award Of Contracts For Schools Delayed

EAST PALESTINE—The Board of Education Monday night delayed awarding contracts for a $650,000 school improvement project pending further study of the bids.

No action was taken on naming a replacement for football Coach Howard Weyers, who has resigned. A field of 40 applicants has been narrowed to six who are slated for further interviews.

The board set the 1961-62 school calendar, with classes starting Sept. 6 and ending June 8.

Victim Tells 2 Stories

Youth Suffers Exposure In Strange River Incident

A 14-year-old LaCroft boy who staggered into a truck terminal garage on the riverfront Monday night — exhausted, wringing wet and almost unclothed — told a story of being stripped and tossed into the river "by some other fellows" but later insisted he had fallen into the stream while fishing.

Thomas McKee, son of Mrs. Eileen Oates of 7th Ave., is in City Hospital today, suffering exposure as a result of the experience. His mother said she has not talked to him at length about the incident. The boy's report to police said he slipped off a rock and fell into the river while fishing.

William Stacey of Shadyside Ave., service manager, and Keith Goodballet of St. George St. were at work in the garage of YELP Service, Inc., on the River Rd. about 9:40 last night when the boy staggered into the building, obviously exhausted, soaked with water and clad only in an undershirt and shorts.

When the boy started to collapse onto the floor, Stacey shouted at Goodballet, who caught him and broke his fall. The YELP employes placed the boy on an improvised couch — an old auto seat — and wrapped him in paper and a painter's drop cloth to warm him.

When the boy recovered enough to talk, Stacey asked what had happened to him.

"They threw me in the river," Stacey said the boy replied. Asked about his missing clothes, the boy replied: "They threw them in, too."

When Stacey asked who was responsible, the boy replied: "Some other fellows." Meanwhile, Stacey had summoned police. Learning that officers were on their way, the boy said his first story was "all a joke" and insisted he had fallen into the river while fishing.

Patrolman Leonard Richard took the boy to the hospital. His condition today was described as "good."

Stacey said when the boy first appeared at the YELP garage he seemed to be in shock. He obviously was exhausted, as though he had swum a great distance, Stacey added.

Storm

the entire wall collapsed. Firemen remained on standby at the home and kept the area roped off as there was danger of the entire building collapsing.

The wall was one of the main supports for the floors, which could have dropped and kicked out the other walls. The Turner family was evacuated.

Emergency repairs were made and the section covered over with canvass. The floors were braced with temporary studs.

About half a block away, the firewall was blown from the top of the Turner Market Building on Main St. between 3rd and 4th Sts. It is owned by Kenneth Jackson of Jennings Ave., East Liverpool.

The wind ripped out a 25 - foot section of the 4-foot high brick wall at the rear. It plunged down into a garage below, literally causing it to disintegrate, firemen said.

The walls of the garage were bulged out and against a home next door. Some of the lumber went through a window.

Hit for the second straight Monday by storm damage, Ohio Power Co. crews worked until 11 last night repairing fallen high voltage wires.

Interruptions ranged from 1½ to 5 hours, Ray Barrett, distribution superintendent, said.

The longest interruption occurred in the area toward West Point after a 12,000-volt power line burned down on Route 267 near Annesley Rd., Barrett said.

Lines carrying 4,000-volts were down at 9th and Wood Sts. and 18th and Main Sts. in Wellsville, and at Huston and Laura Aves. and W. 9th and May Sts. in East Liverpool.

In addition, the company also received the usual complaints about fallen service lines and TV antennas.

City firemen had no report of any storm damage.

Actually, there was a series of thunderstorms. The first hit in the East Liverpool vicinity about 6, with gusty winds, heavy rain then hail. Another thunderstorm brought more rain an hour later.

When the skies cleared, there was a double - rainbow in the East. Skies darkened again and more rain fell later in the evening.

Montgomery Island Dam registered 0.52 inch of rain from the series. Dam 7 at Midland said the storms soon lowered the temperature after the high of 86 degrees between 3 and 4 p. m.

The hail apparently fell in a narrow belt as none was reported at Midland and only a few hailstones in the rural areas. There was no crop damage.

Today's high will be a cooler 56 to 62.

There may be scattered frost tonight with a low range of 36 to 42 degrees. Wednesday will be fair and warmer.

LISBON — High wind Monday night felled a large tree near the curb at the home of Leo Capehart, 706 N. Market St., and the top branches struck the roof of the house as it fell. The tree snapped off about three feet above ground. There were several other reports of tree limbs and television antennas broken at Lisbon.

Man Who Took Pills Recovering

Chester Kondratowicz of Groveland, Mass., was found in his car on Main St., Salineville, just before noon yesterday by Police Chief Cleo Mellott.

The chief said he had been watching the man for about an hour because he was visiting various stores and acting suspiciously, driving off after each visit.

Chief Mellott said he found Kondratowicz in his car on McClellan Hill about noon, incoherent, with his money and a note beside him. Mellott said the man had taken "two or three" bottles of pills and other medicine, and he was rushed to the hospital where he was in "critical" condition for some time yesterday.

Kondratowicz is in a radio-television business, the chief said.

Family Absent, Fire Hits House

EAST PALESTINE — Three fire companies battled a blaze in a four-room frame home along Route 14 midway between here and Columbiana, which broke out about 1 a. m. while the family was absent.

The structure has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Miller, who have been visiting relatives here while the water pump at the home is being repaired.

Fire Chief Glenn Libert, who gave no estimate of the loss, said the cause of the fire was not determined.

Firemen from here and from Negley and New Waterford fought the blaze. The home is behind the Casa Loma night club. Water from the club's swimming pool was pumped to douse the flames, which destroyed the interior of the home.

2 Beaver Men Fined In Delinquency Case

LISBON — Two Beaver County men were fined and given suspended jail sentences Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on charges of contributing to the delinquency of three minor boys by furnishing them beer.

Walter Lapick, 21, and Ronald Lapick, 19, both of New Brighton R.D. 2, were fined a total of $75 and costs and sentenced to 45 days in jail on two counts. The jail terms were suspended. Ronald Lapick's driver's license was suspended for 30 days.

The Pennsylvania juveniles, two 16 and one 17, were turned over to Beaver County authorities for prosecution after admitting the drinking. The youths were cited by the sheriff's department.

End Of Curb Meter Urged For Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — City Council, which has been discussing the need to purchase new parking meters, Monday night received a surprise counter-proposal from some merchants to eliminate meters altogether.

Councilman Robert Smith relayed a proposal from a group of businessmen, asking that the metering program, started 12 years ago, be ended.

The group said the downtown area is placed at a disadvantage by nearby shopping centers where there are no meters, and that the present meters have not been operating efficiently in recent months.

Income, they claimed, has fallen from $600 a month to some $300.

Councilmen agreed to meet with the proponents June 5 to discuss the matter. Councilmen said elimination of the meters would trim some $6,000 from the city revenue, and that open parking would probably result from the original complaint that brought metering — that merchants clog the downtown streets with their own cars.

of the set and read a statement from Mrs. Demoratz. The chief said the set was discovered missing about Feb. 11, and was located March 2 at her home.

Lt. Walker, he said, signed a statement that he had given her the set to use for three weeks.

The chief said the officer came to his home the evening the set was located and asked to know what was "going on." Walker said he had "borrowed" the set to give to a friend whose set had "blown up."

Chief Radeschi said no charges were filed against the lieutenant on condition that he abide by certain terms laid down by the police chief. Walker was given a 30-day suspension from duty without pay, and the actual larceny charge was made by the April Grand Jury which subpoenaed its own witnesses to return the indictment.

Other prosecution witnesses were Capt. Robert Pyle, who helped recover the set; Sam Lako of Chester, who identified the set as one stolen from Central Appliance Nov. 18, 1960, and later recovered in Warren, and Mrs. Joan Starr and Mrs. Catherine Martin, Meter Maids on duty at the City Hall when the set was removed.

Lt. Walker followed Mrs. Demoratz on the witness stand, and stated the set was only loaned and was to be returned. He said he thought the issue was settled when he received the furlough without pay.

Judge Buzzard excused the jury at 2:45 p. m. until this afternoon because Atty. Frank Springer, defense counsel, had a previous commitment this morning.

Closing arguments were to be heard at 1 p. m. today, followed by Judge Buzzard's charge to the jury and the start of deliberations.

We Need A Little More Texas

The best chance to make sense of the angry chatter surrounding the issue of how much news should be processed about national security matters is in the Pentagon, where Defense Secretary McNamara is coming to grips with the problem.

It is mostly Pentagon news involved in the issue.

And it is mostly Pentagon news policy that has been responsible for raising the issue. Secretary MacNamara, himself, raised it when his press department released more of his testimony before Congress than he thought could be justified.

He wondered why newspapers should be given testimony he had given to legislators in confidence about shortcomings in an anti-missile system. "I think it is absurd to release that kind of information for the public," he asserted.

It is likely that Secretary MacNamara hasn't yet comprehended one effect that is especially harmful—an effect that works with a reverse twist.

THIS EFFECT is part of the historic record of two world wars that were started by ignorant dictators who had no first-hand knowledge of the United States and were gullible enough to believe everything they were told.

Most of the adversaries impressions were derived from what they had read and heard in the United States. They believed the United States wouldn't go to war; that it lacked the will to fight; that if it tried to fight it would have no effect on the outcome of the war.

They believed what Americans were saying about their own unpreparedness. They believed what most Americans believed to be true about their military establishment—that it was laughably weak and inefficient. In short, they believed most of the stuff and nonsense generals and admirals relied on when they were trying to get bigger appropriations out of skeptical Congressional committees.

They overlooked the American habit of underrating themselves and overrating the opposition. This is the opposite of a second bad habit—underrating the enemy and overrating themselves. Americans exercised the first bad habit on Germany in World War I and World War II, convincing themselves the Germans were insuperable. They exercised the second habit in World War II, convincing themselves that Japan was pitifully weak—that its equipment was no good, that it could be knocked out of the war over one long weekend and that Japanese lacked the will to fight. We need a little more Texas boasting in the United States.

IT IS HISTORIC fact that Kaiser Wilhelm and Reichsfuehrer Hitler both believed the United States was as weak as its poor-mouth apologists said it was and wouldn't have led Germany to war if they had made a more accurate appraisal of the consequences of getting the United States into the war.

Defense Secretary MacNamara should take this into consideration when he calculates the effect on a foreign government of handling national defense information as if it were the chaff that flies out of the government's other publicity mills.

Some unfriendly government might get overconfident.

Plenty Of Room At The Top

Man-in-space activity so far, notably Cmdr. Shepard's successful ride in the Mercury capsule, has been under the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

NASA trained the astronauts and made the plans that materialized in the successful attempt to put Cmdr. Shepard into sub-orbital flight and bring him down alive. But now there is one of those terse government announcements that cause eyebrows to go up.

The U.S. Air Force says it will start a special course of instruction for space pilots. Its students will go to school to learn the same things the NASA astronauts have been learning.

While there is a technical possibility the Air Force space pilots may be using the Air Force's own space vehicle, the "Dyno-soar," there is a very real possibility they may be using the same equipment any other U.S. astronaut would use if projected into space.

All trainees would be military test pilots, just as all seven NASA astronauts were military test pilots. The source of talent would be the same. The finished product would be the same. And, according to the prospectus, the training would be the same.

This looks like the beginning of a government proliferation — the process of rabbitlike increase whereby every government job that needs to be done is done in multiples.

This has been typical of everything about rocketry so far. All three military services were hell-bent on developing their own rockets at triple expense to taxpayers. And it will take a miracle to keep all three from developing their own training programs.

There never has been as much room at the top for expansion as there is in outer space. It will be surprising if even the Central Intelligence Agency doesn't put in a bid for its own outer space program with its own secret operatives, naturally, and its own secret appropriation. Who knows what CIA might find out there that would require its close attention.

Castro Is Big In Brazil

It hasn't taken long for Latin America to break suspense over the post-invasion status of Castro. Brazil has taken sides with him against the United States in a diplomatic note warning Washington to keep hands off Cuba.

This has been the dread possibility of any interference in Cuba — that it would revive the anti-United States feeling that most Latin Americans seem to harbor. To them the worst danger is not the possibility of Castro-communism in Cuba but revival of interventionism in the United States.

To citizens of this country, of course, this is unreasonable. But to many Latin Americans, it is the only way to look at it. In Brazil, where hordes of Brazilians have known nothing but poverty, Cuba's Castro looms larger as the champion of the down-trodden.

These people and other Latin Americans like them are not well-informed about the threat to the New World of the Communist Conspiracy. The "demonology" of the United States, which ranks the Cuban dictator only slightly below Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung, means nothing at all to a Brazilian whose own scale of demonology starts with the "Colossus of the North" and tapers down to the local tax collector.

This has been the problem of Cuba for Latin American experts who realized how much is at stake in Latin America if the United States opens itself to the accusation of intervention. In the name of keeping the Communist Conspiracy from settling down in one offshore island, it might alienate opinion throughout all the Latin American countries. What has happened in Brazil is a sign of what could happen generally if the United States ever is tempted to burn down the barn to drive out the rats.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Days after Washington reception to Cmdr. Shepard, the picture of his sister Polly stands out in memory of millions. With nation yearning for gusto, warmth and exuberance in traditional welcome - home manner, it was Polly, down from North Attleboro, Mass., who alone gave the proper emotional boost to proceedings, as she leaped to her feet, full of joy and pride, held her hands over head in a gesture of victory and seemed to cry out, "Dignity! Restraint! Coolheadedness! Who needs 'em this day of days?"

There was the mood of "What a day!" "Everybody sing!" and "This is not a funeral wake; let's whoop it up!" in her brief, vibrant, wholly natural reaction and watchers and even "Shep" himself, whose broad smile showed appreciation.

Looking back, it will seem to most folks that it was a sort of Ladies Day, since the gals easily stole show from politicians, diplomats and even from the President, who appeared extra casual.

Another woman, the hero's wife, was a standout on TV. Few Hollywood stars could top her in beauty, and it was the beauty of a naturally charming lady, free from affectation and completely lacking the manufactured, artificial, carefully preserved touch.

Hers was the beauty of the radiant in spirit. (You know why Cmdr. Shepard went up and came back. Who could fail? With a gal like that who needs instrumentation?)

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE Commission has ruled off big brokerage house for alleged violation of stock market rules. Okay, if it doesn't add the phrase in small type "While we believe this action to be in all seriousness, this does not guarantee alertness or determination. For further details consult the prospectus."

Mrs. Vivienne Nearing pleaded guilty to perjury in denying she got answers in "Twenty One" quiz and judge freed her, saying she had suffered enough. We think wrong. Thank you for coming."

In our book the real culprits were the program folks who conceived the dirty work and executed it with plenty of power and a complete disregard of public faith. (Any of 'em in the hoosegow yet?)

Castro is reported seizing Cuban yacht, golf, fishing and business clubs, also taking over many private beaches. Maybe a sunburn is held to be imperialistic.

Bronx Zoo has been closed by strike for over a month. Animals are reported to miss people. Seals probably suffer most, as they are the ham actors of all species. Monkeys are reported desolate and frequently break into a chatter which can be interpreted as "Hey! What happened to human beings?" Elephants look about sadly for somebody with a bag of peanuts. If it is true an elephant never forgets, will any zoo striker be safe anywhere near them from now on?

The Chane Indians, who inhibit the banks of the Rio Papapiti, in Paraguay, spend their lifetime without drinking water — due to the fact that the water in their region is brackish and unfit to drink. In lieu of water, these natives brew a maize beer which provides their liquid sustenance.

So There Will Be No Misunderstanding

Space Program Hurt By Stoppages

By Victor Riesel

The "second siege" of Valley Forge, which ended at 4 o'clock on the morning of May 9, '61 explains in part why informed Senate investigators believe that our space race and missile base program cost at least $200 million more than it should—because of wildcat strikes and labor feuds.

Victor Riesel

The besieging at Valley Forge took place outside a hush-hush General Electric Space Simulator installation now under construction there. But before I turn to the story, I should report that at least one U.S. senator believes that strikes and slowdowns cost the government at least $50 million at Cape Canaveral alone.

He should know. He listened to every word of the recent McClellan committee hearings. He heard contractor after contractor report that they had to figure the Florida test base labor costs at twice those on commercial jobs.

How could such costs roll up? Focus in on Valley Forge for just a part of the story.

THIS BEGINS with a secret government decision to ask GE to build a $6 million Space Environmental Simulator.

GE assigned this to its Missile and Space Vehicle Department, in Philadelphia. There the astro scientists began planning the only space simulator in the world which could provide the final tests for fullsize space vehicles "prior to actual space launching."

There were other astro projects involved but the one that fascinates me here is the un-whisperable one on which the U.S. depends for manned orbiting of the earth.

The government wanted the space simulator ready for use by the beginning of November. Apparently the White House believed that was a date to be conjured with, not only for success in outer space but for international reasons right here on earth.

GE construction began at a site near the community of Valley Forge. By April 19 the project had some 625 building and construction workers on the job.

Thirty of them were members of Local 542, Operating Engineers —a local which had had a mighty rough time of it until hoods inside were exposed during the first McClellan investigative saga.

ON APRIL 19 those 30 men struck, though their contract ran until May 1. They began picketing, though the other building unions had agreed to go along with the Philadelphia area contractors on what seemed to them to be a fine pay pact.

Thus the operating engineers were running an unofficial stoppage. Their fellow unionists denounced the walkout, which was keeping GE from building up to a force of some 2,000 this summer. And some 200 of the other unionists walked through the lines.

But this dwindled and the job had to be shut down completely after May 1, when the operating engineers could hit the bricks officially.

In effect, they were asking for a package increase of $73.84 for a 40-hour week.

Mark this, it is not for a week's work. It is what they asked for as a raise for maintenance engineers.

For oilers, they sought $34.95 raise. Also they wanted a union hiring hall, which pretty much would have given them control of those placed on the job. And most observers believed that the strikers also wanted some of the toughest work restrictions they've run into recently.

This walkout was discussed in the White House and by Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg.

THIRTY MEN were delaying construction of a laboratory which was desperately needed by the nation. How desperately? The answer came from Art Steinfeldt, manager of relations and utilities for the GE Dept.:

"The continuation of this strike," he said, "will seriously affect important parts of the nation's space program. One of the critical facilities under construction is the Space Simulation Laboratory. . . . This will be used by engineers and scientists to test the operation of full-size space vehicles prior to actual space launching."

The operating engineers were aware of this fact when they were summoned to Washington. At 3 p.m. Monday, May 8, they sat down with federal mediation chief, Bill Simkin. Not until the following 4 a.m. did they quit arguing and agree to return.

Now it is presumed the lost time will be made up—probably by overtime work at premium pay. But the senators who have been probing missile strikes are not satisfied.

They are willing to give Arthur Goldberg and arbitration experts and the unions and contractors a chance to work things out. But if they don't in a month or so, Senators McClellan and Mundt will ask for the equivalent of no-strike laws on the bases.

After all, 30 is a very small part of we, the people.

Letters To The Editor

President Kennedy's proposal for health benefits through social security deserves more accurate treatment than was given by a recent nationwide publicity campaign carefully planned by the American Medical Association against health benefits through social security.

The President's proposal would enable the great majority of Americans to contribute during their working years for lifetime protection after age 65 against basic health costs. Then, like 14 million of the present aged, they would be entitled without a means or income test to extensive help in the payment of bills for in-patient hospital care, out-patient hospital diagnostic care and specified services in nursing homes or in their own home.

President Kennedy's proposal, embodied in the Anderson-King bill, is not "socialized medicine". It does not involve government ownership of hospitals or government employment of doctors.

It would not as the American Medical Association implies mean that "the federal government enters the privacy of the examination room — controlling both standards of practice and choice of practitioner". On the contrary, patients would have complete freedom to choose their own doctors and doctors would continue to have complete responsibility for treatment of patients. In fact, doctors would not be paid under the President's proposal.

The best brief answer to the misleading charges is perhaps the list of distinguished supporters of health benefits for the aged through social security.

They include the National Council of Churches, Governors' Conference (1960), American Public Welfare Association, AFL-CIO, American Nurses Association, National Association of Social Workers, Group Health Association of America, National Farmers Union, New York Times, Life Magazine, Business Week, 1961 White House Conference on Aging (report of section on income maintenance), YWCA National Board, Marion B. Folson, secretary of health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower administration and among distinguished members of the medical profession.

The medical associations paint far too rosy a picture of public assistance as a method of helping the needy aged. Even with the 1960 amendments it involves a test of need, an inquiry into personal affairs and in many states into relatives' responsibility. It includes an evaluation of assets as well as income. This process is expensive. And it is repugnant to many Americans. Aid becomes available only after lifetime savings have been seriously depleted.

So far only seven — not 46— of the 50 states have programs in effect under the new program of medical assistance for the aged. Only five or six more have submitted plans or enacted laws likely to result in an operating plan this summer.

Even these generally set srtict limits on eligibility and amount of care. Kentucky, for example, excludes anyone with an annual gross income over $1,000 and pays for only three days of hospital care.

If health benefits through social security are added to the present programs, private and public welfare organizations and hospitals will be able to improve the quality and extent of their services for the entire community.

State and local governments will be relieved of a heavy financial burden so that their resources can be used more extensively for other essential programs, such as schools, water supply and recreational facilities.

War Trial For Castro

By David Lawrence

Tokyo And Nuremberg Trials Reviewed

Fidel Castro and many of his associates some day may be tried for international crimes just as Adolf Eichmann is being tried today in Israel.

David Lawrence

Prominent lawyers familiar with the proceeding in which war criminals were tried and punished after World War II say that Castro's crimes can be dealt with in the same manner as in the Nuremberg or Tokyo trials.

This view is held, for instance, by Dr. Brendan F. Brown, professor of law at Loyola University School of Law in New Orleans and formerly dean of Catholic University Law School in Washington.

Prof. Brown told this correspondent that, while "pshychologically" it would have been better for Eichmann to have been tried by an international tribunal rather than by one country, there is no question in his mind of the lawful right to try Eichmann for international crimes.

In the event that Fidel Castro is forced some day to flee Cuba, he could be arrested and brought before an international tribunal along with any civilians as well as military men connected with his regime who had any part in the mass killings. Many of the victims were shot to death by firings quads as a result of hearsay evidence and without being given the rights of judicial process.

The important point is that a claim of sovereign jurisdiction does not immunize any government official from punishment for crimes he may commit against international society.

This is stressed in a book written a few years ago by Prof. Brown in collaboration with the late Joseph B. Keenan, who was assistant attorney general of the United States and served as chief of counsel in behalf of the United States in the Tokyo war crimes trial.

It is made clear in the Keenan-Brown book that international crimes are committed in time of peace as well as war.

THE AUTHORS, after referring to The Hague convention of 1907, declared:

"This convention prohibited acts, committed against a background of war, of such a nature as to lead national society to punish them, if they had been performed in peacetime and if they had been within the jurisdiction of a competently functioning civil authority. . . .

"Certain other features characterize crimes against humanity. They are inhumanities which result from policy decisions made on the highest plane of civil or military authority. They are the effects of a definitely criminal state policy.

"They are not the isolated and casual atrocities and inhumanities which are perpetrated by soldiers in the heat of battle. . . .

"But crimes against humanity would be impossible without the active direction, or acquiescence, of leaders in control of the originating sources of supreme power in a state and in a position to coordinate that power over a wide area of operations as to produce simultaneous patterns of the wholesale infraction of the laws of humanity in widely separated localities and under widely differing circumstaned conditions. . .

"The defendants (in the Tokyo trials) did not personally commit crimes against humanity but they were responsible for frequent and habitual, commission of such crimes insofar as they ordered, permitted, or agreed to them, or made no effort to prevent or stop them. . . .

"THE SOCIETY of nations and of men in international relationships has claimed and exercised the rightful power and authority to hold individuals accountable for violations of law which complements, controls and regulates international society, and to mete out appropriate punishment for these infractions, even the death penalty. . . .

"The right which international society has claimed and exercised in trying and punishing individuals for breaches of the criminal law of the world community is sustained by an analysis of historical data."

Thus the Tokyo and Nuremberg trials serve as a warningt o individuals in Cuba that they will not escape punishment by claiming, as Eichmann does, that criminal acts were ordered by someone higher up in the government. Indeed, the text of Article 6 of the charter of the international tribunal which tried the Japanese militarists says:

"Neither the official position, at any time, of an accused, nor the fact that an accused acted pursuant to order of his government, or of a superior, shall, of itself, be sufficient to free such accused from responsibility for any crime with which he is charged but such circumstances may be considered in mitigation of punishment, if the tribunal determines that justice so requires."

Hence it may be said that those individuals who have participated directly or indirectly in the mass executions in Cuba—which now number several hundred—may some day find themselves facing an international tribunal. For, as Messrs. Keenan and Brown wrote in their unciation of "savagery and barbarism" in peacetime as well as war:

"If the message of the Tokyo and Nuremberg cases goes unheeded, surely there is but very little hope for the beginning of a new age among men in their international relationships."

Time Running Against U.S.

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Time is running against the American desire to induce backward people—and some not so backward—to be more sympathetic to the West than to Communism.

President Kennedy put it another way last January: "The tide is unfavorable. The news will be worse before it is better." And it has been worse since January. His unsolved dilemma is how to turn the tide, improve the news.

Kennedy is faced with this problem:

1. When the Communists move in, they offer a program to benefit the masses.

2. How can the United States push the governments it supports into broad social and economic programs that will seem just as attractive or better than what the Communists offer?

This may require pressure of an intense kind — since people with great wealth in backward countries, as elsewhere—are reluctant to part with it. This includes land, even though the owners know a Red revolt may take it all away from them.

Kennedy may feel compelled before too long to begin putting the heat on the recipients of American aid to move a lot faster for the benefit of their people. This can be a tough nut to crack.

But in some cases they face a grisly alternative: If American aid were withdrawn they'd face revolution.

We Need A Little More Texas

The best chance to make sense of the angry chatter surrounding the issue of how much news should be processed about national security matters is in the Pentagon, where Defense Secretary McNamara is coming to grips with the problem.

It is mostly Pentagon news involved in the issue.

And it is mostly Pentagon news policy that has been responsible for raising the issue. Secretary MacNamara, himself, raised it when his press department released more of his testimony before Congress than he thought could be justified.

He wondered why newspapers should be given testimony he had given to legislators in confidence about shortcomings in an anti-missile system. "I think it is absurd to release that kind of information for the public," he asserted.

It is likely that Secretary MacNamara hasn't yet comprehended one effect that is especially harmful—an effect that works with a reverse twist.

THIS EFFECT is part of the historic record of two world wars that were started by ignorant dictators who had no first-hand knowledge of the United States and were gullible enough to believe everything they were told.

Most of the adversaries impressions were derived from what they had read and heard in the United States. They believed the United States wouldn't go to war; that it lacked the will to fight; that if it tried to fight it would have no effect on the outcome of the war.

They believed what Americans were saying about their own unpreparedness. They believed what most Americans believed to be true about their military establishment—that it was laughably weak and inefficient. In short, they believed most of the stuff and nonsense generals and admirals relied on when they were trying to get bigger appropriations out of skeptical Congressional committees.

They overlooked the American habit of underrating themselves and overrating the opposition. This is the opposite of a second bad habit—underrating the enemy and overrating themselves. Americans exercised the first bad habit on Germany in World War I and World War II, convincing themselves the Germans were insuperable. They exercised the second habit in World War II, convincing themselves that Japan was pitifully weak—that its equipment was no good, that it could be knocked out of the war over one long weekend and that Japanese lacked the will to fight. We need a little more Texas boasting in the United States.

IT IS HISTORIC fact that Kaiser Wilhelm and Reichsfuehrer Hitler both believed the United States was as weak as its poor-mouth apologists said it was and wouldn't have led Germany to war if they had made a more accurate appraisal of the consequences of getting the United States into the war.

Defense Secretary MacNamara should take this into consideration when he calculates the effect on a foreign government of handling national defense information as if it were the chaff that flies out of the government's other publicity mills.

Some unfriendly government might get overconfident.

Plenty Of Room At The Top

Man-in-space activity so far, notably Cmdr. Shepard's successful ride in the Mercury capsule, has been under the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

NASA trained the astronauts and made the plans that materialized in the successful attempt to put Cmdr. Shepard into sub-orbital flight and bring him down alive. But now there is one of those terse government announcements that cause eyebrows to go up.

The U.S. Air Force says it will start a special course of instruction for space pilots. Its students will go to school to learn the same things the NASA astronauts have been learning.

While there is a technical possibility the Air Force space pilots may be using the Air Force's own space vehicle, the "Dyno-soar," there is a very real possibility they may be using the same equipment any other U.S. astronaut would use if projected into space.

All trainees would be military test pilots, just as all seven NASA astronauts were military test pilots. The source of talent would be the same. The finished product would be the same. And, according to the prospectus, the training would be the same.

This looks like the beginning of a government proliferation — the process of rabbitlike increase whereby every government job that needs to be done is done in multiples.

This has been typical of everything about rocketry so far. All three military services were hell-bent on developing their own rockets at triple expense to taxpayers. And it will take a miracle to keep all three from developing their own training programs.

There never has been as much room at the top for expansion as there is in outer space. It will be surprising if even the Central Intelligence Agency doesn't put in a bid for its own outer space program with its own secret operatives, naturally, and its own secret appropriation. Who knows what CIA might find out there that would require its close attention.

Castro Is Big In Brazil

It hasn't taken long for Latin America to break suspense over the post-invasion status of Castro. Brazil has taken sides with him against the United States in a diplomatic note warning Washington to keep hands off Cuba.

This has been the dread possibility of any interference in Cuba — that it would revive the anti-United States feeling that most Latin Americans seem to harbor. To them the worst danger is not the possibility of Castro-communism in Cuba but revival of interventionism in the United States.

To citizens of this country, of course, this is unreasonable. But to many Latin Americans, it is the only way to look at it. In Brazil, where hordes of Brazilians have known nothing but poverty, Cuba's Castro looms larger as the champion of the downtrodden.

These people and other Latin Americans like them are not well-informed about the threat to the New World of the Communist Conspiracy. The "demonology" of the United States, which ranks the Cuban dictator only slightly below Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung, means nothing at all to a Brazilian whose own scale of demonology starts with the "Colossus of the North" and tapers down to the local tax collector.

This has been the problem of Cuba for Latin American experts who realized how much is at stake in Latin America if the United States opens itself to the accusation of intervention. In the name of keeping the Communist Conspiracy from settling down in one offshore island, it might alienate opinion throughout all the Latin American countries. What has happened in Brazil is a sign of what could happen generally if the United States ever is tempted to burn down the barn to drive out the rats.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Days after Washington reception to Cmdr. Shepard, the picture of his sister Polly stands out in memory of millions. With nation yearning for gusto, warmth and exuberance in traditional welcome - home manner, it was Polly, down from North Attleboro, Mass., who alone gave the proper emotional boost to proceedings, as she leaped to her feet, full of joy and pride, held her hands over head in a gesture of victory and seemed to cry out, "Dignity! Restraint! Coolheadedness! Who needs 'em this day of days?"

There was the mood of "What a day!" "Everybody sing!" and "This is not a funeral wake; let's whoop it up!" in her brief, vibrant, wholly natural reaction and watchers and even "Shep" himself, whose broad smile showed appreciation.

Looking back, it will seem to most folks that it was a sort of Ladies Day, since the gals easily stole show from politicians, diplomats and even from the President, who appeared extra casual.

Another woman, the hero's wife, was a standout on TV. Few Hollywood stars could top her in beauty, and it was the beauty of a naturally charming lady, free from affectation and completely lacking the manufactured, artificial, carefully preserved touch.

Hers was the beauty of the radiant in spirit. (You know why Cmdr. Shepard went up and came back. Who could fail? With a gal like that who needs instrumentation?)

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE Commission has ruled off big brokerage house for alleged violation of stock market rules. Okay, if it doesn't add the phrase in small type "While we believe this action to be in all seriousness, this does not guarantee alertness or determination. For further details consult the prospectus."

Mrs. Vivienne Nearing pleaded guilty to perjury in denying she got answers in "Twenty One" quiz and judge freed her, saying she had suffered enough. We think wrong. Thank you for coming."

In our book the real culprits were the program folks who conceived the dirty work and executed it with plenty of power and a complete disregard of public faith. (Any of 'em in the hoosegow yet?)

Castro is reported seizing Cuban yacht, golf, fishing and business clubs, also taking over many private beaches. Maybe a sunburn is held to be imperialistic.

Bronx Zoo has been closed by strike for over a month. Animals are reported to miss people. Seals probably suffer most, as they are the ham actors of all species. Monkeys are reported desolate and frequently break into a chatter which can be interpreted as "Hey! What happened to human beings?" Elephants look about sadly for somebody with a bag of peanuts. If it is true an elephant never forgets, will any zoo striker be safe anywhere near them from now on?

The Chane Indians, who inhibit the banks of the Rio Papapiti, in Paraguay, spend their lifetime without drinking water — due to the fact that the water in their region is brackish and unfit to drink. In lieu of water, these natives brew a maize beer which provides their liquid sustenance.

So There Will Be No Misunderstanding

Space Program Hurt By Stoppages

By Victor Riesel

The "second siege" of Valley Forge, which ended at 4 o'clock on the morning of May 9, '61 explains in part why informed Senate investigators believe that our space race and missile base program cost at least $200 million more than it should—because of wildcat strikes and labor feuds.

Victor Riesel

The besieging at Valley Forge took place outside a hush-hush General Electric Space Simulator installation now under construction there. But before I turn to the story, I should report that at least one U.S. senator believes that strikes and slowdowns cost the government at least $50 million at Cape Canaveral alone.

He should know. He listened to every word of the recent McClellan committee hearings. He heard contractor after contractor report that they had to figure the Florida test base labor costs at twice those on commercial jobs.

How could such costs roll up? Focus in on Valley Forge for just a part of the story.

GE assigned this to its Missile and Space Vehicle Department, in Philadelphia. There the astro scientists began planning the only space simulator in the world which could provide the final tests for fullsize space vehicles "prior to actual space launching."

There were other astro projects involved but the one that fascinates me here is the un-whisperable one on which the U.S. depends for manned orbiting of the earth.

The government wanted the space simulator ready for use by the beginning of November. Apparently the White House believed that was a date to be conjured with, not only for success in outer space but for international reasons right here on earth.

GE construction began at a site near the community of Valley Forge. By April 19 the project had some 625 building and construction workers on the job.

Thirty of them were members of Local 542, Operating Engineers —a local which had had a mighty rough time of it until hoods inside were exposed during the first McClellan investigative saga.

ON APRIL 19 those 30 men struck, though their contract ran until May 1. They began picketing, though the other building unions had agreed to go along with the Philadelphia area contractors on what seemed to them to be a fine pay pact.

Thus the operating engineers were running an unofficial stoppage. Their fellow unionists denounced the walkout, which was keeping GE from building up to a force of some 2,000 this summer. And some 200 of the other unionists walked through the lines.

But this dwindled and the job had to be shut down completely after May 1, when the operating engineers could hit the bricks officially.

In effect, they were asking for a package increase of $73.84 for a 40-hour week.

Mark this, it is not for a week's work. It is what they asked for as a raise for maintenance engineers.

For oilers, they sought $34.95 raise. Also they wanted a union hiring hall, which pretty much would have given them control of those placed on the job. And most observers believed that the strikers also wanted some of the toughest work restrictions they've run into recently.

This walkout was discussed in the White House and by Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg.

THIRTY MEN were delaying construction of a laboratory which was desperately needed by the nation. How desperately? The answer came from Art Steinfeldt, manager of relations and utilities for the GE Dept.:

"The continuation of this strike," he said, "will seriously affect important parts of the nation's space program. One of the critical facilities under construction is the Space Simulation Laboratory. . . . This will be used by engineers and scientists to test the operation of full-size space vehicles prior to actual space launching."

The operating engineers were aware of this fact when they were summoned to Washington. At 3 p.m. Monday, May 8, they sat down with federal mediation chief, Bill Simkin. Not until the following 4 a.m. did they quit arguing and agree to return.

Now it is presumed the lost time will be made up—probably by overtime work at premium pay. But the senators who have been probing missile strikes are not satisfied.

They are willing to give Arthur Goldberg and arbitration experts and the unions and contractors a chance to work things out. But if they don't in a month or so, Senators McClellan and Mundt will ask for the equivalent of no-strike laws on the bases.

After all, 30 is a very small part of we, the people.

Letters To The Editor

President Kennedy's proposal for health benefits through social security deserves more accurate treatment than was given by a recent nationwide publicity campaign carefully planned by the American Medical Association against health benefits through social security.

The President's proposal would enable the great majority of Americans to contribute during their working years for lifetime protection after age 65 against basic health costs. Then, like 14 million of the present aged, they would be entitled without a means or income test to extensive help in the payment of bills for in-patient hospital care, out-patient hospital diagnostic care and specified services in nursing homes or in their own home.

President Kennedy's proposal, embodied in the Anderson-King bill, is not "socialized medicine". It does not involve government ownership of hospitals or government employment of doctors.

It would not as the American Medical Association implies mean that "the federal government enters the privacy of the examination room — controlling both standards of practice and choice of practitioner". On the contrary, patients would have complete freedom to choose their own doctors and doctors would continue to have complete responsibility for treatment of patients. In fact, doctors would not be paid under the President's proposal.

The best brief answer to the misleading charges is perhaps the list of distinguished supporters of health benefits for the aged through social security.

They include the National Council of Churches, Governors' Conference (1960), American Public Welfare Association, AFL-CIO, American Nurses Association, National Association of Social Workers, Group Health Association of America, National Farmers Union, New York Times, Life Magazine, Business Week, 1961 White House Conference on Aging (report of section on income maintenance), YWCA National Board, Marion B. Folson, secretary of health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower administration and among distinguished members of the medical profession.

The medical associations paint far too rosy a picture of public assistance as a method of helping the needy aged. Even with the 1960 amendments it involves a test of need, an inquiry into personal affairs and in many states into relatives' responsibility. It includes an evaluation of assets as well as income. Board Okays Use Of Field By 2 Leagues

Rental of Patterson Field to two baseball leagues was approved unanimously Monday night by the Board of Education after a clarification of Sunday baseball.

Use of the field by the City and County Baseball League and the American Legion Baseball League was authorized after Supt. Ralph W. Betts said both groups were willing to continue with twilight baseball as in the past.

Betts said he had believed originally that both were interested in Sunday baseball, but then learned that only the American Legion was interested and it quickly agreed to go along with the board's wishes.

At the previous meeting, a motion to rent the field to the two groups, with the possibility of some Sunday games, was defeated 3-2. C. Walter Ashbaugh and James Lowe supported the motion, while Samuel W. Brown, Leo C. Lawrence and James Moss opposed the rental.

"We have acceded to the wish of certain members of the board. What will we do if a Catholic organization wants to use the field for a football game on Sunday?" Lowe asked. On two occasions the board has authorized a Catholic group to use the field for a Sunday football game.

The superintendent replied that the baseball groups were not told that they could not play on Sundays, but that the board would be "a bit unhappy" about the games.

He said he explained to the leagues that the deed to the tract, for which the board is trustee, does not ban Sunday games. However, it does forbid any admission charge or fund collection on Sundays, the superintendent said.

"That will clarify it. I'm not opposed to Sunday ball, but I wouldn't want to say yes to one group and no to another," Lowe answered.

Board Awards Contracts For Painting Six Schools

Contracts for the painting of six more schools this summer were awarded and a Wheeling firm received a contract for servicing typewriters when the Board of Education met Monday night.

George Durbin received the contracts for the painting of the interior of East Junior High and the exterior of the Horace Mann, Garfield, Neville, High School and Memorial Auditorium buildings on low bids totaling $4,607.37.

They included $1,324.37 for East Junior, $550 for Horace Mann, $764 for Garfield, $518 for Neville, $980 for the High School and $471 for Memorial Auditorium.

The motion to let the contracts was made by James Moss, chairman of the board's building committee.

Awarding the contracts completes the painting program planned this summer. At its last meeting, the board let contracts to Hollis Logue for the interior of Klondyke and the exteriors of East Junior, LaCroft, Pleasant Heights and Central, Christ Pallis for the interior of Horace Mann and Floyd Williamson for painting the exterior of the old Taft building.

The board unanimously awarded the contract for serving typewriters to the Valley Office Equipment Co. of Wheeling on its low bid of $6.50 per machine. The bids had been received at the previous meeting, but awarding of the contract had been delayed after the board members asked Supt. Ralph W. Betts to check on the firm's service.

Betts said he conferred with school officials in Martins Ferry and Bridgeport, who said the company's service was satisfactory. A representative of the firm also promised 24-hour service, Betts reported to the board.

In making the motion to let the contracts to the Wheeling company, James Lowe commented, "I hate to see this contract go out of town, but in view of the great gap in prices I don't see how we can keep it in town."

Remington Rand of Youngstown asked $9 per machine and Stevens Typewriter Service of East Liverpool $9.50 per machine.

The board accepted the resignation of Miss Koula Svokos, a high school English instructor, who plans to marry this summer.

It also approved the appointments of Norman Six and Lawrence Foltz, both of Newell, as junior high instructors for next term. Six is a graduate of Iowa University and Foltz will complete his work this summer at West Virginia University.

Betts pointed out both are interested in coaching, but said he was not ready to make any coaching assignments. Two football coaching assignments and a basketball coaching post, all at Westgate, are open, however, he explained.

The board approved the rental of the visual education room at East Junior High to the East Liverpool Chapter of Secretaries on May 27 for a fee of $5 plus custodial charges.

It also authorized the rental of Westgate auditorium to the Christian churches of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester, Newell and Fredericktown for a joint meeting on Sunday, June 4. The fee will be $20.

Mrs. Hazel Neiser, president of the East Liverpool Teachers Association, attended the meeting. She explained the organization has decided to send representatives to the meetings so they can acquaint themselves with the problems of the school board and the administration.

Biographies Of 2 Comedians Among Library's New Books

The biography shelf at the Carnegie Public Library boasts some new additions which will provide respite from any severe case of spring fever, according to Miss Frances Jones, librarian.

Two popular comedians tell all. George Jessel offers poetic glimpses into the lives of dramatic greats — such as the Barrymores, Maud Adams, Norma Talmadge and Douglas Fairbanks in "Elegy In Manhattan." Gertrude Berg tells how she climbed the ladder to success in "Molly and Me."

The world of music is well represented in the library's new biographies: "Renata Tebaldi," the woman and the diva, by Victor Seroff; "Concerto, the Glowing Story of Clara Schumann" by Berta Harding, and "Copland on Music," the reflections of a great composer on the musical influences in his life.

Two famous newspaper columnists become better understood through their biographies:

Edwin Post recreates the society of New York at the turn of the century in "Truly Emily Post." Though Emily came of the elite clan which could breakfast in bed every day, eventually she had to supplement her income, and her son's account of how she became a newspaper woman is most refreshing.

Robert Ruark continues his splendid reminiscences about his experiences with his grandfather in "The Old Man's Boy Grows Older." Hunting in the woods of North Carolina interspersed with large doses of folk humor and wisdom is the theme of this volume of essays.

Three names which have made their mark on history are further dramatized in fresh portraits. Bernard Asbell recounts the details of Roosevelt's passing in "When F.D.R. Died." Robert St. John has simplified his adult biography of "Ben Gurion, Biography of an Extraordinairy Man" into a version better adapted for the reading of young people — the title, "Builder of Israel."

Flipping the pages of history back three centuries, W. H. Lewis fills us in on details about Philippe, Duke of Orleans, who became regent of France on the death of Louis XIV. Since he was somewhat notorious, the title, "The Scandalous Regent," seems quite apt.

Also for those who explore the past the new book shelf includes Leonard Cottrell's "The Lost Pharoahs" and "Archeologists and What They Do" by Robert Braidwood. The first volume is written by a feature writer and producer of the BBC. He is a master reporter of this amazing civilization 3000 years previous.

Noble Threewitt has led the trainers in winners at Hollywood Park the last two years with 22 and 28 firsts, respectively.

Robert St. John has simplified his adult biography of "Ben Gurion, Biography of an Extraordinairy Man" into a version better adapted for the reading of young people — the title, "Builder of Israel."

Flipping the pages of history back three centuries, W. H. Lewis fills us in on details about Philippe, Duke of Orleans, who became regent of France on the death of Louis XIV. Since he was somewhat notorious, the title, "The Scandalous Regent," seems quite apt.

Also for those who explore the past the new book shelf includes Leonard Cottrell's "The Lost Pharoahs" and "Archeologists and What They Do" by Robert Braidwood. The first volume is written by a feature writer and producer of the BBC. He is a master reporter of this amazing civilization 3000 years previous.

Noble Threewitt has led the trainers in winners at Hollywood Park the last two years with 22 and 28 firsts, respectively.

First Blast Furnace Near Lisbon

Area's Early Iron, Steel History Recalled

The manufacture of iron and steel, to which special tribute is being paid in the Upper Ohio Valley, has been a vital part of this area since 1807, when Gideon Hughes built near Lisbon the first blast furnace in Ohio.

Since then steel and iron plants, foundries and machine shops have flourished in most district communities — Wellsville, Chester, Irondale, Lisbon, Leetonia, Salem, and near Calcutta.

Hughes, a Welsh Quaker, began construction of the blast furnace about a mile northwest of Lisbon in 1807, attracted by various iron ore outcroppings in the area and the need for metal items in the new state.

PRODUCTION began in 1808 on the Beaver Creek site — now in the McKinley Scout Reservation —with Hughes producing some pig iron along with plow shares, pots, kettles and other items with the aid of a nearby forge. The ore was smelted with the use of charcoal made from plentiful supplies of forest timber.

Hughes later manufactured stoves, named "Rebeccas" after his wife, and in 1822 built a rolling mill about three miles upstream, connecting it with the furnace by a small railroad. However, heavy investment caused the operation to fail, and it was taken over by some others, including James McKinley, father of President William McKinley.

The second blast furnace in the county was built in 1840 in Section 15, St. Clair Township, by Arnold Downey, a Pennsylvanian who counted on the completion of the Sandy & Beaver Canal to carry his products to Pittsburgh via the Ohio River.

This furnace was located in the valley of Hazel Creek, less than a mile north of Calcutta between the Old Fredericktown Rd. and present Route 170. However, it produced for only 18 months after construction because the canal was not completed in the time expected.

Ferdinand Keffer built a foundry in East Liverpool in 1838 which produced for a couple of years. There had been a number of nail mills built at Lisbon and vicinity as early as 1816 and several small foundries also produced there during the 19th century. The majority of foundries, mills and machine shops were operated successfully at Salem and Leetonia.

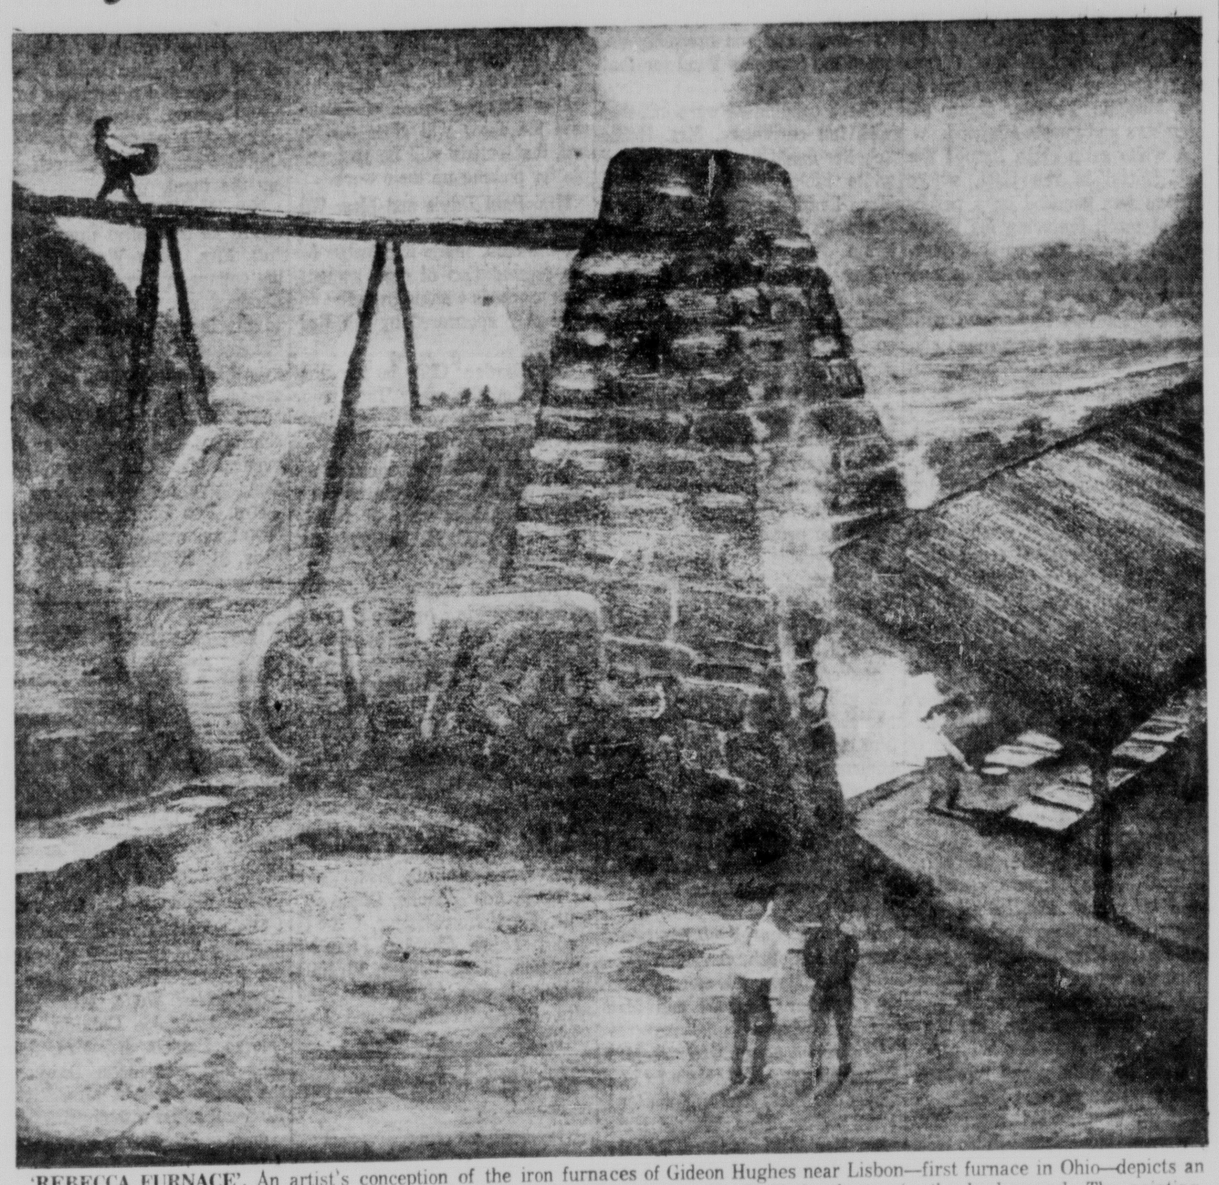
AT WELLSVILLE, Phillip Geisse and Levi Bottenburg founded the Fulton Foundry and Machine Works in 1836, which became one of the main industries there for some 70 years, continuing today as the Stevenson Co.

The firm first produced stoves and plowshares, but later built steam engines, car wheels and axles, and in the 1850's began constructing boats and rolling stock for railroads. In 1871 the firm was sold to Samuel and T. B. Stevenson.

Among other early Wellsville firms was the Menough Foundry Co., launched in 1864.



'REBECCA FURNACE'. An artist's conception of the iron furnaces of Gideon Hughes near Lisbon—first furnace in Ohio—depicts an 1810 scene of the metal being ladeled into molds, with the Hughes' home—now the McKinley home—in the background. The painting, which hangs in the McKinley home in the Boy Scout Reservation north of Lisbon, was completed in 1950 by Matthew Mawhinney of Salem. Hughes named the furnace after his wife.

In 1873 William Morgan and a group of Welsh mechanics came from Pittsburgh with the proposal for the people of Wellsville to build a tin plate mill if the city would help financially.

Some $16,000 was put up by the citizens and the new American Tin Plate Co. soon had some $75,000 worth of buildings, machinery and stock producing tin plate —the first in the nation, it was said.

DUE TO LACK of working capital, the venture failed, even after efforts of an Alliance firm to save it, and the plant was sold by the sheriff in 1877 to satisfy creditors. Eventually, the plant was taken over by W. D. Wood of Pittsburgh, new machinery installed and, as a branch of his McKeesport concern, began to produce some high quality sheet steel.

Previous to the passage of the high duty tariff act of 1889, sponsored by Rep. William McKinley whose father had operated the old Hughes furnace, it had not been possible for U.S. mills to compete profitably with English and Welsh imports.

However, William Banfield of Wellsville and others had taken over a former rolling mill at Irondale, and were reportedly the first to successfully produce tin plate at a profit in the country.

Irondale figured in the earlier history of the iron industry, starting 100 years ago when John Hunter opened a coal mine to supply district mills producing metal to meet Civil War needs.

In 1869, the Pioneer Rolling Mill was founded, giving the village its new name—it had been called Huntersville — and providing jobs for 150 men. The following year, the Morgan Coal & Iron Co. built a blast furnace on the site of the present athletic field. Both were closed after the financial panic of 1873.

The Pioneer plant was obtained by Banfield and his brother-in-law, with the townspeople buying shares at $50. This plant figured predominately in arguments at Washington regarding the tariff issues and the need for protective duties on imports.

THE BANFIELD group in the 1890's became interested in Chester as a site for a new mill on the river for cheaper transportation of raw materials and production items, and in 1900 began construction of the Chester Rolling Mill Co.

However, the Irondale plant was absorbed by the American Tin Plate Co. in 1899, as was the Chester facility, and this operation was in 1901 taken over by the huge United States Steel Corp.

In 1901 the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers began pressing for bargaining rights and a number of labor strikes followed.

In the aftermath of the trouble, the Beaver Tin Plate Co. at Lisbon — which started production in 1894 and became a U. S. Steel facility — and the Irondale plant were shut down and the equipment at Irondale was transferred to Chester.

The plants at Chester and Wellsville flourished until 1931 when the pressures of the depression and the outmoded operations with insufficient room for expansion brought their closings.

At Chester, more than 500 men were employed at times in the manufacture of special plate for stoves and metal furniture.

In 1914, according to Wilbur MacLean of Wellsville, the plant began to experiment with rolling of copper-bearing steel sheets which had great rust resistance.

The plant also produced "Keystone" polished steel used for stoves and open hearth steel sheets used for the early car bodies and fenders shipped to the Mullins Co. of Salem and the Budd Co. at Philadelphia.

Even Salineville had a part in the area metal industry, with the establishment in 1849 of a foundry and machine shop by Oliver Cope which produced machinery and farm implements. It was purchased in 1869 by W. W. Orr and later became a planing mill.

The electric furnaces and highly developed production techniques of the modern plants of the Crucible Steel Co. and the Weirton Steel Co. and elsewhere in the industry owe a great debt to these earlier mills and foundries and these pioneering industrialists and workers who helped to create today's American steel-producing complex.

Nixon Declares Volunteers Can Hit Delinquency

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Volunteer organizations can do more in the long run to curb juvenile delinquency than big government, says former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon addressed more than 400 persons Monday night at the annual banquet of the Big Brothers of Greater Los Angeles, a youth service organization.

"Juvenile delinquency is not a unique problem in the United States," he said, "it's on the increase in all countries, including the Soviet Union.

"But the United States is unique in that we turn not to government as the first resort but as the last resort in dealing with this problem."

Nixon, who received the first annual Big Brothers award as "The American who has been the greatest inspiration to our youth," said volunteer organizations provide the essential personal touch.

20 Aspirants Ask Spot For Fall Balloting

Twenty candidates who will seek election to village, township and school board posts on a non-partisan basis at the Nov. 7 general election already have filed petitions, the County Election Board said today.

The majority of the filings are for township trustee posts although a slate has been entered from Salineville village and a New Waterford man has filed for a County Board of Education seat.

The Salineville ticket includes Stanley E. Fitch for mayor; Miss Myrtle T. Strabley, incumbent, for treasurer; Lamont Faulkner for clerk, and Mary Sweeney and Clyde E. Polen for Council.

For the first time in many years, Salineville will elect its officials on a non-partisan ballot because it lost its status as a major village under Ohio law when its population fell below 2,000 in the 1960 census.

Communities over 2,000 but less than 5,000 nominate at party primaries in May, picking slates for the general election in November. Those under 2,000 skip the primaries and elect their officials in November without party labels.

Salineville's changed status leaves the county with only three "major" villages — Columbiana, Leetonia and Lisbon. There are four cities — communities over 5,000.

The township trustee candidates include Lorain H. Foulks, Harry F. Nulph and Samuel M. Hicks for St. Clair; Russell William Davis and George W. Gromley, Salem Township; Florian Woolf, Emmett F. Hole and Daniel Humenick, Knox; Jimmie B. Stuchell, Carl E. Herron and William D. Hoopes, Butler; S. Charles Fisher, Fairfield, and George M. Batcha, Madison.

Cincinnati police said Monday they wanted to know his activities during the time Patrolman Donald Martin, 29, was shot and killed March 11. Officers said they did not have enough evidence to warrant sending a detective to Charlotte.

Boy's Sorry After Killing His Mother

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — "Now that I think it over, I'm half-sorry," a teen-age high school honor student told police after admitting he beat his mother with an axe handle and then choked her to death.

Officers said Ronald Dennis Wolff, 15, walked into police headquarters Monday, tossed his house keys on the desk and calmly reported: "I have something to report. I've just killed my mother with an axe—an axe handle."

Mrs. Wolff, a prominent clubwoman and author of several volumes of poetry, was the daughter of Albert Newton Johnson, former Minnesota state legislator.

Ronald told officers his mother had pestered him about a bizarre burglary arrest.

Police said Ronald got in trouble for the first time three weeks ago when he was discovered stuck for four hours in a chimney.

The youth told police he planned to climb down the chimney, anesthetize a teen-age girl and take pictures of her. A burglary charge is pending against the youth as a result of the incident.

Ronald's father, Emil Otto Wolff, 42, an electronics engineer, was stunned by the tragedy. He said he and Mrs. Wolff were divorced six years ago. He had taken her and Ronald to dinner on Mother's Day.

Ronald is being held in juvenile hall pending court action.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I clean and freshen a concrete cellar floor, outdoor pavement or driveway?

A. Scrub the surface of the concrete first with soap and water, or turn the hose on it. Then, while the concrete is still damp, sprinkle some dry cement powder over it. After about 10 minutes, sweep off the excess powder with a stiff broom.

Q. How can I wash hardwood floors properly?

A. Never use soap, as it makes varnished surfaces cloudy. Add a tablespoon of vinegar and one of furniture polish to the water used for washing.

Q. How can I prevent the leather on my furniture from drying and cracking?

A. Try rubbing the leather occasionally with linseed oil.

The nation's fire losses during the last 10 years totaled more than $11.7 billion, according to National Fire Protection Association estimates.

First Blast Furnace Near Lisbon

Area's Early Iron, Steel History Recalled

The manufacture of iron and steel, to which special tribute is being paid in the Upper Ohio Valley, has been a vital part of this area since 1807, when Gideon Hughes built near Lisbon the first blast furnace in Ohio.

Since then steel and iron plants, foundries and machine shops have flourished in most district communities — Wellsville, Chester, Irondale, Lisbon, Leetonia, Salem, and near Calcutta.

Hughes, a Welsh Quaker, began construction of the blast furnace about a mile northwest of Lisbon in 1807, attracted by various iron ore outcroppings in the area and the need for metal items in the new state.

PRODUCTION began in 1808 on the Beaver Creek site — now in the McKinley Scout Reservation —with Hughes producing some pig iron along with plow shares, pots, kettles and other items with the aid of a nearby forge. The ore was smelted with the use of charcoal made from plentiful supplies of forest timber.

Hughes later manufactured stoves, named "Rebeccas" after his wife, and in 1822 built a rolling mill about three miles upstream, connecting it with the furnace by a small railroad. However, heavy investment caused the operation to fail, and it was taken over by some others, including James McKinley, father of President William McKinley.

The second blast furnace in the county was built in 1840 in Section 15, St. Clair Township, by Arnold Downey, a Pennsylvanian who counted on the completion of the Sandy & Beaver Canal to carry his products to Pittsburgh via the Ohio River.

This furnace was located in the valley of Hazel Creek, less than a mile north of Calcutta between the Old Fredericktown Rd. and present Route 170. However, it produced for only 18 months after construction because the canal was not completed in the time expected.

Ferdinand Keffer built a foundry in East Liverpool in 1838 which produced for a couple of years. There had been a number of nail mills built at Lisbon and vicinity as early as 1816 and several small foundries also produced there during the 19th century. The majority of foundries, mills and machine shops were operated successfully at Salem and Leetonia.

AT WELLSVILLE, Phillip Geisse and Levi Bottenburg founded the Fulton Foundry and Machine Works in 1836, which became one of the main industries there for some 70 years, continuing today as the Stevenson Co.

The firm first produced stoves and plowshares, but later built steam engines, car wheels and axles, and in the 1850's began constructing boats and rolling stock for railroads. In 1871 the firm was sold to Samuel and T. B. Stevenson.

Among other early Wellsville firms was the Menough Foundry Co., launched in 1864.

'REBECCA FURNACE'. An artist's conception of the iron furnaces of Gideon Hughes near Lisbon—first furnace in Ohio—depicts an 1810 scene of the metal being ladeled into molds, with the Hughes' home—now the McKinley home—in the background. The painting, which hangs in the McKinley home in the Boy Scout Reservation north of Lisbon, was completed in 1950 by Matthew Mawhinney of Salem. Hughes named the furnace after his wife.

In 1873 William Morgan and a group of Welsh mechanics came from Pittsburgh with the proposal for the people of Wellsville to build a tin plate mill if the city would help financially.

Some $16,000 was put up by the citizens and the new American Tin Plate Co. soon had some $75,000 worth of buildings, machinery and stock producing tin plate —the first in the nation, it was said.

DUE TO LACK of working capital, the venture failed, even after efforts of an Alliance firm to save it, and the plant was sold by the sheriff in 1877 to satisfy creditors. Eventually, the plant was taken over by W. D. Wood of Pittsburgh, new machinery installed and, as a branch of his McKeesport concern, began to produce some high quality sheet steel.

Previous to the passage of the high duty tariff act of 1889, sponsored by Rep. William McKinley whose father had operated the old Hughes furnace, it had not been possible for U.S. mills to compete profitably with English and Welsh imports.

However, William Banfield of Wellsville and others had taken over a former rolling mill at Irondale, and were reportedly the first to successfully produce tin plate at a profit in the country.

Irondale figured in the earlier history of the iron industry, starting 100 years ago when John Hunter opened a coal mine to supply district mills producing metal to meet Civil War needs.

In 1869, the Pioneer Rolling Mill was founded, giving the village its new name—it had been called Huntersville — and providing jobs for 150 men. The following year, the Morgan Coal & Iron Co. built a blast furnace on the site of the present athletic field. Both were closed after the financial panic of 1873.

The Pioneer plant was obtained by Banfield and his brother-in-law, with the townspeople buying shares at $50. This plant figured predominately in arguments at Washington regarding the tariff issues and the need for protective duties on imports.

THE BANFIELD group in the 1890's became interested in Chester as a site for a new mill on the river for cheaper transportation of raw materials and production items, and in 1900 began construction of the Chester Rolling Mill Co.

However, the Irondale plant was absorbed by the American Tin Plate Co. in 1899, as was the Chester facility, and this operation was in 1901 taken over by the huge United States Steel Corp.

In 1901 the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers began pressing for bargaining rights and a number of labor strikes followed.

In the aftermath of the trouble, the Beaver Tin Plate Co. at Lisbon — which started production in 1894 and became a U. S. Steel facility — and the Irondale plant were shut down and the equipment at Irondale was transferred to Chester.

The plants at Chester and Wellsville flourished until 1931 when the pressures of the depression and the outmoded operations with insufficient room for expansion brought their closings.

At Chester, more than 500 men were employed at times in the manufacture of special plate for stoves and metal furniture.

In 1914, according to Wilbur MacLean of Wellsville, the plant began to experiment with rolling of copper-bearing steel sheets which had great rust resistance.

The plant also produced "Keystone" polished steel used for stoves and open hearth steel sheets used for the early car bodies and fenders shipped to the Mullins Co. of Salem and the Budd Co. at Philadelphia.

Even Salineville had a part in the area metal industry, with the establishment in 1849 of a foundry and machine shop by Oliver Cope which produced machinery and farm implements. It was purchased in 1869 by W. W. Orr and later became a planing mill.

The electric furnaces and highly developed production techniques of the modern plants of the Crucible Steel Co. and the Weirton Steel Co. and elsewhere in the industry owe a great debt to these earlier mills and foundries and these pioneering industrialists and workers who helped to create today's American steel-producing complex.

Nixon Declares Volunteers Can Hit Delinquency

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Volunteer organizations can do more in the long run to curb juvenile delinquency than big government, says former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon addressed more than 400 persons Monday night at the annual banquet of the Big Brothers of Greater Los Angeles, a youth service organization.

"Juvenile delinquency is not a unique problem in the United States," he said, "it's on the increase in all countries, including the Soviet Union.

"But the United States is unique in that we turn not to government as the first resort but as the last resort in dealing with this problem."

Nixon, who received the first annual Big Brothers award as "The American who has been the greatest inspiration to our youth," said volunteer organizations provide the essential personal touch.

20 Aspirants Ask Spot For Fall Balloting

Twenty candidates who will seek election to village, township and school board posts on a non-partisan basis at the Nov. 7 general election already have filed petitions, the County Election Board said today.

The majority of the filings are for township trustee posts although a slate has been entered from Salineville village and a New Waterford man has filed for a County Board of Education seat.

The Salineville ticket includes Stanley E. Fitch for mayor; Miss Myrtle T. Strabley, incumbent, for treasurer; Lamont Faulkner for clerk, and Mary Sweeney and Clyde E. Polen for Council.

For the first time in many years, Salineville will elect its officials on a non-partisan ballot because it lost its status as a major village under Ohio law when its population fell below 2,000 in the 1960 census.

Communities over 2,000 but less than 5,000 nominate at party primaries in May, picking slates for the general election in November. Those under 2,000 skip the primaries and elect their officials in November without party labels.

Salineville's changed status leaves the county with only three "major" villages — Columbiana, Leetonia and Lisbon. There are four cities — communities over 5,000.

The township trustee candidates include Lorain H. Foulks, Harry F. Nulph and Samuel M. Hicks for St. Clair; Russell William Davis and George W. Gromley, Salem Township; Florian Woolf, Emmett F. Hole and Daniel Humenick, Knox; Jimmie B. Stuchell, Carl E. Herron and William D. Hoopes, Butler; S. Charles Fisher, Fairfield, and George M. Batcha, Madison.

Ask Man's Release

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati police have asked authorities in Charlotte, N. C., to release Jerry Cecil Strange, 21, arrested Sunday after officers here asked to have him questioned. Cincinnati police said Monday they wanted to know his activities during the time Patrolman Donald Martin, 29, was shot and killed March 11. Officers said they did not have enough evidence to warrant sending a detective to Charlotte.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: Seldom do I devote the entire column to a single letter, but I think this letter deserves every inch of the valuable newspaper space it will take to print it.

I urge all teen-agers to read it carefully. Girls — put yourselves in Betty's place. Boys — put yourself in Al's place. The story recited by this heartbroken mother is not something that happens only to other people. It could happen to you.

A Broken Heart

Dear Ann Landers: I'm not writing for advice. It's too late for that now. I just hope you'll print this letter. Perhaps it will help someone else.

Our youngest son is 18. He should be graduated from high school in June but he won't. He was married three weeks ago to a girl who is 16. They are expecting a baby in September.

Betty and Al went steady for about three months. She seemed like a pleasant girl but quite shy. Her parents are divorced and her mother works downtown. Al never brought her to the house for us to meet, the way he did other girls. And he never talked about her very much.

ONE DAY I asked him, casually, where his class ring was and he said Betty had it. I asked him if he had a crush on Betty and he answered: "She's all right." His lack of enthusiasm made me uneasy.

A month ago Betty's mother phoned and suggested I come over that evening and bring my husband. I sensed trouble and refused to get off the phone until she told me more.

When she said Betty and Al had better get married right away I knew the whole story. That night when my husband came home from the office I told him at once. We didn't eat much dinner, just went right over to Betty's house. We took Al with us.

It was the most horrible evening of my life. Al sat there with his head buried in his hands and Betty cried the whole time.

BETTY'S MOTHER tried to be helpful. She offered to let Betty and Al share her small apartment -- said they could have the bedroom and she'd take the pull-out bed in the living room.

It broke my heart when she said, "Betty will need someone to help her care for the baby. She doesn't know a thing. She's just a baby herself."

So our 18-year-old son quit high school to marry a 16-year-old girl. He always had planned on going on to college — he even had a football scholarship lined up — but that's out now.

We begged him to stay in school but he can't face the kids and, besides, he said a "family man" has to earn money and support his family.

The worst part of it is I don't think he cares much for this girl. They look so sad together.

I DON'T KNOW whether it's our fault for not teaching our son better, or whether it's the girl's fault—or her mother's. But at this stage, fixing the blame doesn't help.

Please, Ann Landers, keep alerting these young kids to the dangers of going too far. Tell the boys if the girls tease and egg them on, they should think beyond the pleasures of the moment. One foolish mistake can mean a ruined life for both of them. — A HEARTBROKEN MOTHER.

Confidentially

TO CAN'T FIGURE IT: Don't waste any more time trying. If the names on the mailbox mean anything, they're married. If it doesn't, the situation is worse than you thought. Either way, it' no good for you—so forget it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Stock Markets Have Big Stake In ASE Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The nation's 13 organized stock markets have a big stake in the forthcoming federal investigation of the American Stock Exchange, the second largest.

In announcing plans for the inquiry, the Securities and Exchange Commission said Monday it wants to find out whether new laws or regulations are needed to protect investors against market rigging and other shenanigans.

If the rules are changed, officials said, the revision probably will apply equally to all stock exchanges.

The American Exchange is the only direct target of the new inquiry. It was singled out as a result of an SEC investigation of two of its members, Jerry and Gerard Re. The SEC on May 4 ordered the Res expelled from the exchange on charges of widespread price-rigging and illegal stock sales between 1954 and 1960.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the exchange, issued a statement saying, "We welcome a thorough check of our operations at this time because of the unwarranted inferences which have been made by some as a result of the recent action taken by the commission against Messrs. Re and Re."

Summer Repairs Are Set By Southern Local Board

Summer repairs for Southern Local Schools and equipment and some remodeling of two cafeterias were approved by the board of education at a meeting Monday night at No. 16 School.

The board agreed to the removal of a wall for a serving area and other remodeling and replacement of some equipment at No. 16 School and replacement of serving tables at Highlandtown.

The board also recommended a uniform menu for all four cafeterias in the school district. Summer repairs were authorized for the district's 12 buses — four each to be repaired by Lewis Chevrolet garage at Lisbon, Ideal at Wellsville and Hart Motors of Salineville.

Summer repairs by janitors will include some painting and other work. Repairs are needed at the roof of the high school and for the new furnace at the high school.

The proposed Route 39 tract for the district's new high school is being surveyed and the deed prepared for sale of bonds soon.

A part-time school nurse is being sought to replace Mrs. Sally Barronzi of Lisbon.

The next meeting will be June 19.

110 At One-Day Institute Held By Hospital Nurses

A new course in the nursing curriculum was demonstrated at the annual one-day institute of City Hospital, sponsored by the Graduate Nurse Staff Monday in the nurses classroom. Some 110 attended.

Mrs. Ila Shingler, nursing and surgical instructor, conducted the demonstration on "Disaster Nursing." Members of the Senior Class participating were Patricia Betteridge, Jeanette Blevins, Loretta Booth, Joan Brown, Doris Gieseler, Phyllis Clark, Carolyn Kelly, Patricia McDowell, Barbara Rodell and Eleanor Wright.

Speakers were John F. Skinner, representative of Baxter Laboratories, Dr. Kenneth W. Turner and Dr. J. Keith Rugh.

Several films were screened in the afternoon. New equipment in medical and nursing procedures were also demonstrated.

Laos has no railroads, few highways, and less than 1,000 telephones. The principal artery of commerce is the Mekong River.

Jury Hearings Asked In Youngstown Case

Five men, including two from East Liverpool, who were involved in two disturbances April 23 at a Youngstown restaurant have filed demands for jury trials in Youngstown Municipal Court.

Court officials said the action was taken by Lawrence W. Smith, 47, of 2504 St. Clair Ave. and James J. McGowan, 40, of 1313 Riverview St., Mervin Spencer and Joseph Jasper Aiello of Youngstown and Charles Carrabia of Struthers.

They said no date has been set for the start of jury trials in Judge Don Hanni's court.

First Lessons Are Beamed By 'Flying School'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The younger ones giggled and asked for more. Some teen-agers criticized, and the teachers, for the most part, reserved judgment.

This was the varied reaction Monday when a DC6 "flying classroom" jammed with electronic equipment circled over north central Indiana and beamed classroom instruction to a six-state Midwest area via television.

It was the first demonstration lessons beamed by the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction. The signal was sent to 32 demonstration schools, which will evaluate the program, and several participating schools which tuned in to get a glimpse of what to expect and to test their equipment.

Officials at MPATI's headquarters on the Purdue University campus in West Lafayette, reported reception good in most areas of Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio. But Milwaukee missed the premier because of technical problems.

In most areas, reaction and reception were mixed.

The younger pupils and their teachers seemed to like what they got. The high school set was more critical.

4th Degree Kaycees Will Hold Reception

A reception will be held for four new members at a meeting of Cardinal Mercier Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Wednesday night at 8 in the K.C. Hall in Wellsville.

Plans will be discussed for an honor guard for the investiture of 41 new priests elevated to the rank of monsignor May 28 at 7:30 p. m. in St. Columba Cathedral in Youngstown.

Fr. Anthony Esposito, faithful friar, will continue a series of monthly talks. John J. LaScola, faithful navigator, will preside. Plans to award annual scholarships to parochial pupils in East Liverpool, Wellsville and East Palestine also will be discussed.

Ohio Sets Bridge Pact With Neighbor States

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Monday signed a law authorizing agreements with neighboring states on bridge construction projects.

The statute, enacted by the current legislature, paves the way for the governor to enter into a pact with West Virginia for Ohio to pay its share of a contemplated bridge across the Ohio River at Marietta on Insterstate 77. A similar agreement could be made under the new law for a talked-about span linking Ohio and Huntington, W.Va.

Present Ohio law permits agreements only for maintenance and repair of such bridges.

3 Plead Innocent

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Three Orange Village young men pleaded innocent in Painesville Municipal Court Monday to charges of grand larceny and malicious destruction of property in the weekend theft of a $4,000 outboard cruiser from its dock on the Grand River. Released on $1,000 bond each were John J. Mayer, 19; John L. Francis, 21, and Donald H. Wiedlund, 23.

6 More Treated In Area Mishaps

A Chester area man hurt while working on an auto and a Wellsville man injured while installing a storm window were among six treated at City Hospital Monday.

Lloyd Stewart of Chester R. D. 1 suffered a possible fracture of a finger on the right hand when it became caught in the brakes of an auto on which he was working.

Mike Provenzano, 1208 Commerce St., Wellsville, was treated for a lacerated ear received when a storm window he was installing at home slipped.

Jimmy Robinson, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wilkinson of Church Alley, Chester, was treated for a dog bite.

Kevan Ward, 7, son of Mrs. John Ward of Adolphus St., Chester, suffered a fracture of a finger while playing ball at home.

Group Prepares Retirement Book

Work has begun on a second booklet on retirement preparation, Dr. Joseph Tauber, chairman of the Rehabilitation Committee of the Beaver County Mental Health Society, said today.

"Don't begrudge them a profit, Martha. That's the part that keeps the price of electricity low!"

"Look at it this way: Without profits, the electric company wouldn't have been able to raise the money to make improvements. Without improvements, the price of electricity would have climbed along with everything else!"

He's right, Martha. While your cost of living has more than doubled† since 1935, the price of residential electricity in Ohio has actually decreased 16%*. (Of course, your electric bills are larger because you are using 5½ times as much electricity. Your bills have not gone up in proportion to your use!)

This fortunate chain of events (profits—to improvements—to low electricity prices) is possible because of the historically favorable business climate in Ohio. Because of this business climate, Martha, you are paying less for electricity than people in 32 other states!*

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I clean and freshen a concrete cellar floor, outdoor pavement or driveway?

A. Scrub the surface of the concrete first with soap and water, or turn the hose on it. Then, while the concrete is still damp, sprinkle some dry cement powder over it. After about 10 minutes, sweep off the excess powder with a stiff broom.

Q. How can I wash hardwood floors properly?

A. Never use soap, as it makes varnished surfaces cloudy. Add a tablespoon of vinegar and one of furniture polish to the water used for washing.

Q. How can I prevent the leather on my furniture from drying and cracking?

The nation's fire losses during the last 10 years totaled more than $11.7 billion, according to National Fire Protection Association estimates.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

FCC Chairman Indictment

The scorching indictment of contemporary television by FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow has had diverse effects on broadcasters whose reactions to the criticism have been sought.

Marie Torre

They are either speechless or loquacious, the "talking" broadcasters divided between those who speak angry words off the record or empty words for the record. While networks and independent stations around the country paid Minow the respect of giving full news coverage to this strongly worded speech before the National Association of Broadcasters in Washington last week, the subject has been largely a closed-door matter among broadcasters who, according to industry sources, are privately describing Minow's speech as "unrealistic, unabashedly arrogant, and a threat to the free enterprise system."

"THE TIPOFF," said an authoritative source, "came at the beginning of Minow's speech when he said he locked himself in his office for two months to do his homework.

"This is an open admission that he analyzed the situation from afar, that he personally never got to the heart of the matter."

"Minow speaks," said another high source, "as if there is a conspiracy to make TV awful. He speaks a philosophy that is alien to democracy. He is trying to impose the will of a few on the public.

"What he is telling broadcasters, in effect, is that we don't know what ought to be done. Of course we know that violence and obscenity have to be eliminated at some point, but first we have to elevate taste, and this is a slow, cumbersome process. It can't be done overnight, even if the FCC chairman demands it."

IN HIS SPEECH, Mr. Minow described much of TV programming as a "vast wasteland," and challenged anyone in his audience to claim that broadcasting couldn't do better.

"I want to see broadcasting improved," he said, "and I want you to do the job. . . . Gentlemen, your trust accounting with your beneficiaries is overdue. Never have so few owed so much to so many."

He proferred the hope that the opening of more TV channels in the future will lead to the kind of competition that will spur "better programming," but even this drew criticism from broadcasters.

"The chairman should know," said one broadcaster, "that greater competition would only lead to an increase of the very kind of 'popular' type programming he finds so offensive."

AMONG the broadcasters who would be quoted on Minow's speech, the remarks were either impassive or noncommittal. NBC, through its press officer, issued a "no comment" reply to queries. CBS officials were incommunicado.

At ABC, Leonard Goldenson, chairman of American Broadcasting - Paramount Theaters, called Minow's speech "courageous," and added, "We're making an analysis of what Mr. Minow said. He makes points about our industry which we ought to take cognizance of."

"Chairman Minow's speech was an important contribution to the continuing dialogue that now is going on about broadcasting in our culture. It has focused all of our attention on what I believe is the critical issue, namely, what are the measurable standards of the qualitative TV program?

"This obviously involves a mutual examination and expression from the FCC, the public, the critics, the broadcasters and the intellectual elite. WBC is dedicated to the concept that broadcasting is most effective when it not only serves but leads the public."

ANOTHER willing respondent was Fred Thrower of WPIX-TV, who said:

"Mr. Minow's speech was most interesting and, because of his position, merits the closest study. It is obvious from his remarks that the industry is going to benefit from a fresh point of view.

"Our democracy thrives on the open forum and in constructive criticism. There can be no doubt that the broadcaster must be responsible for programming and it is a good thing that sponsors, the public, as well as the broadcasters, be reminded of this obligation."

Whether broadcasters are for or against him, Mr. Minow promises to be a formidable figure on the broadcasting scene in the months ahead.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: Seldom do I devote the entire column to a single letter, but I think this letter deserves every inch of the valuable newspaper space it will take to print it.

I urge all teen-agers to read it carefully. Girls — put yourselves in Betty's place. Boys — put yourself in Al's place. The story recited by this heartbroken mother is not something that happens only to other people. It could happen to you.

A Broken Heart

Dear Ann Landers: I'm not writing for advice. It's too late for that now. I just hope you'll print this letter. Perhaps it will help someone else.

Our youngest son is 18. He should be graduated from high school in June but he won't. He was married three weeks ago to a girl who is 16. They are expecting a baby in September.

Betty and Al went steady for about three months. She seemed like a pleasant girl but quite shy. Her parents are divorced and her mother works downtown. Al never brought her to the house for us to meet, the way he did other girls. And he never talked about her very much.

ONE DAY I asked him, casually, where his class ring was and he said Betty had it. I asked him if he had a crush on Betty and he answered: "She's all right." His lack of enthusiasm made me uneasy.

A month ago Betty's mother phoned and suggested I come over that evening and bring my husband. I sensed trouble and refused to get off the phone until she told me more.

When she said Betty and Al had better get married right away I knew the whole story. That night when my husband came home from the office I told him at once. We didn't eat much dinner, just went right over to Betty's house. We took Al with us.

It was the most horrible evening of my life. Al sat there with his head buried in his hands and Betty cried the whole time.

BETTY'S MOTHER tried to be helpful. She offered to let Betty and Al share her small apartment -- said they could have the bedroom and she'd take the pull-out bed in the living room.

It broke my heart when she said, "Betty will need someone to help her care for the baby. She doesn't know a thing. She's just a baby herself."

So our 18-year-old son quit high school to marry a 16-year-old girl. He always had planned on going on to college — he even had a football scholarship lined up — but that's out now.

We begged him to stay in school but he can't face the kids and, besides, he said a "family man" has to earn money and support his family.

The worst part of it is I don't think he cares much for this girl. They look so sad together.

I DON'T KNOW whether it's our fault for not teaching our son better, or whether it's the girl's fault—or her mother's. But at this stage, fixing the blame doesn't help.

Please, Ann Landers, keep alerting these young kids to the dangers of going too far. Tell the boys if the girls tease and egg them on, they should think beyond the pleasures of the moment. One foolish mistake can mean a ruined life for both of them. — A HEARTBROKEN MOTHER.

Confidentially

TO CAN'T FIGURE IT: Don't waste any more time trying. If the names on the mailbox mean anything, they're married. If it doesn't, the situation is worse than you thought. Either way, it' no good for you—so forget it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Stock Markets Have Big Stake In ASE Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 13 organized stock markets have a big stake in the forthcoming federal investigation of the American Stock Exchange, the second largest.

In announcing plans for the inquiry, the Securities and Exchange Commission said Monday it wants to find out whether new laws or regulations are needed to protect investors against market rigging and other shenanigans.

If the rules are changed, officials said, the revision probably will apply equally to all stock exchanges.

The American Exchange is the only direct target of the new inquiry. It was singled out as a result of an SEC investigation of two of its members, Jerry and Gerard Re. The SEC on May 4 ordered the Res expelled from the exchange on charges of widespread price-rigging and illegal stock sales between 1954 and 1960.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the exchange, issued a statement saying, "We welcome a thorough check of our operations at this time because of the unwarranted inferences which have been made by some as a result of the recent action taken by the commission against Messrs. Re and Re."

Summer Repairs Are Set By Southern Local Board

Summer repairs for Southern Local Schools and equipment and some remodeling of two cafeterias were approved by the board of education at a meeting Monday night at No. 16 School.

The board agreed to the removal of a wall for a serving area and other remodeling and replacement of some equipment at No. 16 School and replacement of serving tables at Highlandtown.

The board also recommended a uniform menu for all four cafeterias in the school district. Summer repairs were authorized for the district's 12 buses — four each to be repaired by Lewis Chevrolet garage at Lisbon, Ideal at Wellsville and Hart Motors of Salineville.

Summer repairs by janitors will include some painting and other work. Repairs are needed at the roof of the high school and for the new furnace at the high school.

The proposed Route 39 tract for the district's new high school is being surveyed and the deed prepared for sale of bonds soon.

A part-time school nurse is being sought to replace Mrs. Sally Barronzi of Lisbon.

The next meeting will be June 19.

110 At One-Day Institute Held By Hospital Nurses

A new course in the nursing curriculum was demonstrated at the annual one-day institute of City Hospital, sponsored by the Graduate Nurse Staff Monday in the nurses classroom. Some 110 attended.

Mrs. Ila Shingler, nursing and surgical instructor, conducted the demonstration on "Disaster Nursing." Members of the Senior Class participating were Patricia Betteridge, Jeanette Blevins, Loretta Booth, Joan Brown, Doris Gieseler, Phyllis Clark, Carolyn Kelly, Patricia McDowell, Barbara Rodell and Eleanor Wright.

Several films were screened in the afternoon. New equipment in medical and nursing procedures were also demonstrated.

First Lessons Are Beamed By 'Flying School'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The younger ones giggled and asked for more. Some teen-agers criticized, and the teachers, for the most part, reserved judgment.

This was the varied reaction Monday when a DC6 "flying classroom" jammed with electronic equipment circled over north central Indiana and beamed classroom instruction to a six-state Midwest area via television.

It was the first demonstration lessons beamed by the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction. The signal was sent to 32 demonstration schools, which will evaluate the program, and several participating schools which tuned in to get a glimpse of what to expect and to test their equipment.

Officials at MPATI's headquarters on the Purdue University campus in West Lafayette, reported reception good in most areas of Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio. But Milwaukee missed the premier because of technical problems.

In most areas, reaction and reception were mixed.

4th Degree Kaycees Will Hold Reception

A reception will be held for four new members at a meeting of Cardinal Mercier Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Wednesday night at 8 in the K.C. Hall in Wellsville.

Plans will be discussed for an honor guard for the investiture of 41 new priests elevated to the rank of monsignor May 28 at 7:30 p. m. in St. Columba Cathedral in Youngstown.

Fr. Anthony Esposito, faithful friar, will continue a series of monthly talks. John J. LaScola, faithful navigator, will preside. Plans to award annual scholarships to parochial pupils in East Liverpool, Wellsville and East Palestine also will be discussed.

Ohio Sets Bridge Pact With Neighbor States

The statute, enacted by the current legislature, paves the way for the governor to enter into a pact with West Virginia for Ohio to pay its share of a contemplated bridge across the Ohio River at Marietta on Insterstate 77. A similar agreement could be made under the new law for a talked-about span linking Ohio and Huntington, W.Va.

3 Plead Innocent

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Three Orange Village young men pleaded innocent in Painesville Municipal Court Monday to charges of grand larceny and malicious destruction of property in the weekend theft of a $4,000 outboard cruiser from its dock on the Grand River. Released on $1,000 bond each were John J. Mayer, 19; John L. Francis, 21, and Donald H. Wiedlund, 23.

6 More Treated In Area Mishaps

A Chester area man hurt while working on an auto and a Wellsville man injured while installing a storm window were among six treated at City Hospital Monday. Lloyd Stewart of Chester R. D. 1 suffered a possible fracture of a finger on the right hand when it became caught in the brakes of an auto on which he was working.

Mike Provenzano, 1208 Commerce St., Wellsville, was treated for a lacerated ear received when a storm window he was installing at home slipped.

Group Prepares Retirement Book

Work has begun on a second booklet on retirement preparation, Dr. Joseph Tauber, chairman of the Rehabilitation Committee of the Beaver County Mental Health Society, said today.

Members of the committee include Fr. John Corbett, assistant pastor of the Midland Presentation Catholic Church, and Burgess Harry H. Davis of Industry.

In preparation of more specific suggestions on planning early for retirement and mistakes to avoid, the committee is planning to meet with various Golden Age Groups in the county that can offer advice.

The first booklet, "Make Your Retirement Worthwhile," was endorsed by District 20, United Steelworkers Union, the Ambridge and Beaver Falls Ministerial Association and several individual clergymen and women's clubs.

Suit Asks $17,298

LISBON — Rudolph F. Bodendofer of Salem filed suit for $17,298 in Common Pleas Court Monday against Donald Lease of Lisbon R. D. 4, claiming personal injuries in an auto crash May 21, 1959, on Carey Rd. in Butler Township.

"Don't begrudge them a profit, Martha. That's the part that keeps the price of electricity low!"

"Look at it this way: Without profits, the electric company wouldn't have been able to raise the money to make improvements. Without improvements, the price of electricity would have climbed along with everything else!"

He's right, Martha. While your cost of living has more than doubled† since 1935, the price of residential electricity in Ohio has actually decreased 16%*. (Of course, your electric bills are larger because you are using 5½ times as much electricity. Your bills have not gone up in proportion to your use!)

This fortunate chain of events (profits—to improvements—to low electricity prices) is possible because of the historically favorable business climate in Ohio. Because of this business climate, Martha, you are paying less for electricity than people in 32 other states!*

FCC Chairman Indictment

The scorching indictment of contemporary television by FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow has had diverse effects on broadcasters whose reactions to the criticism have been sought.

Marie Torre

They are either speechless or loquacious, the "talking" broadcasters divided between those who speak angry words off the record or empty words for the record. While networks and independent stations around the country paid Minow the respect of giving full news coverage to this strongly worded speech before the National Association of Broadcasters in Washington last week, the subject has been largely a closed-door matter among broadcasters who, according to industry sources, are privately describing Minow's speech as "unrealistic, unabashedly arrogant, and a threat to the free enterprise system."

"THE TIPOFF," said an authoritative source, "came at the beginning of Minow's speech when he said he locked himself in his office for two months to do his homework.

"This is an open admission that he analyzed the situation from afar, that he personally never got to the heart of the matter."

"Minow speaks," said another high source, "as if there is a conspiracy to make TV awful. He speaks a philosophy that is alien to democracy. He is trying to impose the will of a few on the public.

"What he is telling broadcasters, in effect, is that we don't know what ought to be done. Of course we know that violence and obscenity have to be eliminated at some point, but first we have to elevate taste, and this is a slow, cumbersome process. It can't be done overnight, even if the FCC chairman demands it."

IN HIS SPEECH, Mr. Minow described much of TV programming as a "vast wasteland," and challenged anyone in his audience to claim that broadcasting couldn't do better.

"I want to see broadcasting improved," he said, "and I want you to do the job. . . . Gentlemen, your trust accounting with your beneficiaries is overdue. Never have so few owed so much to so many."

He proferred the hope that the opening of more TV channels in the future will lead to the kind of competition that will spur "better programming," but even this drew criticism from broadcasters.

"The chairman should know," said one broadcaster, "that greater competition would only lead to an increase of the very kind of 'popular' type programming he finds so offensive."

AMONG the broadcasters who would be quoted on Minow's speech, the remarks were either impassive or noncommittal. NBC, through its press officer, issued a "no comment" reply to queries. CBS officials were incommunicado.

At ABC, Leonard Goldenson, chairman of American Broadcasting - Paramount Theaters, called Minow's speech "courageous," and added, "We're making an analysis of what Mr. Minow said. He makes points about our industry which we ought to take cognizance of."

"Chairman Minow's speech was an important contribution to the continuing dialogue that now is going on about broadcasting in our culture. It has focused all of our attention on what I believe is the critical issue, namely, what are the measurable standards of the qualitative TV program?

"This obviously involves a mutual examination and expression from the FCC, the public, the critics, the broadcasters and the intellectual elite. WBC is dedicated to the concept that broadcasting is most effective when it not only serves but leads the public."

ANOTHER willing respondent was Fred Thrower of WPIX-TV, who said:

"Mr. Minow's speech was most interesting and, because of his position, merits the closest study. It is obvious from his remarks that the industry is going to benefit from a fresh point of view.

"Our democracy thrives on the open forum and in constructive criticism. There can be no doubt that the broadcaster must be responsible for programming and it is a good thing that sponsors, the public, as well as the broadcasters, be reminded of this obligation."

Mathews Finding Range, Belts Pair Of Homers In 7-5 Win Over Dodgers

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ed Mathews, after hitting just one home run in Milwaukee's first 21 games, belted a pair for a total of five in four games Monday night as the Braves defeated Los Angeles 7-5, handing Johnny Podres his first defeat. That dropped the Dodgers two games behind San Francisco in the National League race. The Giants whipped the Chicago Cubs 14-1.

Lew Burdette (3-1) won two in a row for the first time this season — and also drove in three Braves runs with a single and his first home run of the year. It was the eighth straight success in the Coliseum for Burdette, who gave up seven hits.

Wally Moon, retaining the NL bat lead at .384, tripled and scored the first run for the Dodgers by stealing home with two out in the second inning. Charlie Neal hit a two-run homer in the ninth.

The Braves wrapped up in six innings, chasing Podres (5-1), who had won seven in a row over two seasons.

San Francisco collected 18 hits and four of them were home runs — two by Orlando Cepeda, who drove in five runs. His first followed a grand-slam by Felipe Alou in the first inning and chased starter Dick Ellsworth (0-3) before he had retired a man. Mattey Alou, Felipe's kid brother, hit the other homer, his first in the majors, in the eighth.

Power Outshines Grant's 3-Hitter

BOSTON (AP)—The first massacre of Fenway Park by the Indians took place on Sept. 13, 1957 and Cleveland collected all the scalps that night.

The Indians performed another raid on Beantown territory Monday—this time in broad daylight—as they banged out 21 hits and romped to a 13-2 triumph over the Boston Red Sox behind Jim (Mudcat) Grant's three-hitter.

That 1957 contest was a night affair and the Indians had 21 hits en route to a 16-3 victory behind Mike Garcia. Some oddities of the two games:

Vic Wertz knocked in five runs for the Tribe in 1957. Now he's doing the same job for Boston and drew an 0-for-4 horsecollar.

The center fielder for the Red Sox four seasons ago was a fellow by the name of Jim Piersall, who now wears Cleveland colors. Piersall collected four hits in six trips for the Indians Monday.

The 21-hit total was the highest for Cleveland since that wild night in Fenway.

The bonanza hit production—something the Tribe has lacked this campaign—took some notice away from Grant's second victory without a loss. He walked five and struck out three. Only one hit, Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer in the fourth, was solidly struck. The other hits, by ex-Indian Russ Nixon and rookie Chuck Schilling, were a blooper in the seventh inning and an infield scratch in the eighth.

Every Cleveland player got at least one hit. Grant had two. Tito Francona, Woodie Held and John Romano each had three, with Romano connecting for his third home run.

The Indians scored six runs in the second inning on seven hits, counted two more on Romano's homer in the seventh and put the icing on with five tallies on six hits in the final inning.

A big day in Boston for Piersall is always something special. It's his hometown. "I got only three hours sleep," said Piersall, now a .328 hitter. "I went home to see the family and I was so excited I couldn't sleep."

ELHS May Join League . . .

They will be put into motion on May 24 when top schools from the area, making up the eight-team league, will send representatives to a meeting at the Lape Hotel in Salem.

East Liverpool is one of the eight schools. The other powers are Steubenville Big Red, Salem, Canton McKinley, Niles, Warren, Massillon and Alliance. Cuyahoga Falls is another possibility, but it is already a member of another league.

They don't come much tougher than the above list and East Liverpool already meets five out of the seven opponents. The only teams not listed on the Potters' schedule are Steubenville Big Red. The two schools broke off relations several seasons ago.

The loop isn't expected to get under way until the 1962-63 season. One round of competition would be played, meaning each school would play seven league contests.

Each school listed has been contacted and has expressed an interest in forming a league. Coaches John Cabas of Salem and Dick Boyd of Warren have been instrumental in laying the groundwork.

LL Officials Disappointed . . .

LITTLE LEAGUE officials in East Liverpool have announced that there won't be a Little League preview or opening ceremonies this season because the fields are not in shape.

Officials have expressed their disappointment over the poor turnouts for work parties. Only two or three fathers are showing up to help with the fields and other work, and as a result progress was slow.

Brief ceremonies will be held at Hilbert Field on opening day of the season Monday.

This is the first year since we can remember that the Little League hasn't held its annual preview, but in view of the circumstances we can understand why.

Think You Have Troubles? . . .

YOU THINK you have troubles. Listen to the St. Bonaventure story. The Niagara Falls Gazette said in its Sunday editions that the Bonnies, third ranked college team in the nation last season, may drop basketball.

The newspapers said that St. Bonaventure officials may announce the action sometime this week.

The reason why — the newspaper said St. Bonaventure officials were concerned with what the papers termed "unsavory conditions" that had developed in college basketball recently.

The paper cited the gambling scandals that had developed during the past season.

Besides the scandal, here are some other reasons. St. Bonaventure lost coach Eddie Donavan last week to the New York Knickerbockers of the NBA. The school's sophomore scoring ace, Fredie Crawford, and All-American senior Tom Stith came down with tuberculosis after the season and were sent to sanitoriums.

As Coach Bob Hedmond pointed out, this was the first year the Potters haven't had that one big scorer in track. For the past two years it was Bob Mackall. And this year it would have been hurdler Bob Christen, but he was over aged.

Quartermiler Bill Flanigan was the best of the Potter performers, along with the other members of the mile relay team.

This year's county meet saw two Class A schools — Columbiana and United — finish ahead of East Liverpool. The Potters finished third the last three years but fell to sixth this time.

Board Equalizes Salaries Of Grid, Cage Coaches

A $150 increase in Basketball Coach Jim Harris' pay to equalize the salaries of the head football and basketball coaches was approved Monday night by the Board of Education.

Supt. Ralph E. Betts said the increase was started last year when the board approved a $100 increase in Harris' pay.

In response to a question from James Moss, the superintendent said schools follow one of two policies. In some cases, schools believe the salaries should be equal while in others the football coach is paid slightly more.

After the motion approving the increase was made, it was amended to include a phrase concerning equalizing the salaries at the suggestion of James Lowe. Board members explained the addition of the phrase establishes the board's policy on salaries for the two head coaches.

The board also approved a $50 adjustment in the salary allowance for the girls' intramural director from $150 to $200, equalizing it with the allowance for the boys' intramural director.

Boxer Fighting For Life Today After Injury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lightweight boxer Harry Campbell, an Olympic quarter-finalist last year, battled for his life after suffering head injuries in a pro bout Monday night.

Plan Of De-Emphasis Over Scandal Expected For N. Carolina Schools

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A gambling scandal that has reached into two major North Carolina colleges may spell the doom of big time college basketball in the state.

North Carolina State College Coach Everett Case may have written the obituary Monday when he said:

"Basketball is meant to be a game. Down here it has turned into a war. I'm ready for a truce."

Three of Case's players, including team captain Stan Niewierowski, have been charged with bribe-taking in the point shaving scandal which earlier had reached the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Meanwhile, District Solicitor (prosecutor) Lester Chalmers said new warrants have been issued charging Joseph Green of New York City with bribing two N.C. State players to fix the N.C. State games at Duke and North Carolina.

Chalmers indicated more warrants were still to come. In response to a question, he said it appeared they would involve gamblers rather than players.

Gov. Terry Sanford told a news conference Monday he feels careful consideration should be given to de-emphasis of big time basketball. Sanford, who is ex-officio chairman of the university board, said he understood a de-emphasis plan would be presented to the group Monday.

Twins Gain 4th Straight

Tigers Top Orioles, 10-5; Increase Lead To 3 Games

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Camilo Pascual, after losing three straight, pitched a four-hit shutout Monday night as Minnesota beat the Chicago White Sox 5-0. It was the fourth in a row for the third place Twins, who moved within one game of idle, second place New York in the American League race.

The Detroit Tigers padded their lead to three games by belting Baltimore 10-5; Cleveland rapped Boston 13-2, behind the three-hit pitching of Mudcat Grant, and Kansas City, with Joe Gordon managing from the press box, defeated the Los Angeles Angels 5-3.

Harmon Killebrew, after going 0-for-4 in Sunday's game against the Angels, had two of the Twins' eight hits. Cal McLish (2-3) was the loser.

The Tigers tagged 15 hits at Baltimore and broke a 3-3 tie in a five-run seventh inning, with Dick Brown driving in two runs. Dick Hall (1-2) was the loser. Right-hander Peul Foytack (2-2) allowed 11 hits, one a homer by Whitey Herzog.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, a right-hander, didn't allow a hit until Red Sox rookie Carl Yastrzemski hammered a two-run homer in the fourth inning. But the Indians had backed Grant (2-0) with a six-run second inning. Ted Wills (1-2) lost it after coming on in the first when starter Tom Brewer suffered a shoulder injury.

When the A's loaded the bases on walks in the eighth inning, pinch-hitter Lou Klimchock came through with a tie-breaking single. Lefty Bud Daley (4-4) was the winner with reliever Ted Bowsfield (0-1) the loser.

Managing In Pressbox Pays Off For A's, Gordon

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Gordon managed the Kansas City Athletics from the press box Monday night and discovered what every baseball writer has claimed for years—it's better that way.

The proof was a 5-3 remote control victory over the Los Angeles Angels and a promise from Gordon that he would be back tonight with the telephone glued to his ear for a second trial run.

The A's skipper yielded to a suggestion by Frank Lane, the Athletics' general manager, and joined the news contingent. He relayed his directions by telephone to Coach Ed Fitzgerald who, in some shadowy manner, sent them to Coach Jo Jo White in the third base box.

"I missed the close contact with my players and I don't think this is the ideal way to manage a baseball club but it has some value," said Gordon. "You can see things you can't see from the low level of the dugout. I noticed right away that one of my outfielders was playing too close for those Los Angeles power hitters. One of our better batters was standing too close to the plate. I couldn't have seen either of these flaws from the dugout. Actually, Frank and I tried this to see if it wouldn't be valuable to have someone up here all the time—if not the manager, one of our coaches."

And, said Gordon, he found out that rookie shortstop Dick Howser is covering even more ground than he thought.

Gordon didn't actually rub shoulders with the newsmen as Lane often does while offering salty comments on both his own and visiting clubs.

Joe had a separate compartment where he could conduct his business without ribbing or suggestions.

Attendance Dips Around Major Loops

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball attendance showed an over-all deficit of 17 per cent through Sunday's games despite large crowds in New York and San Francisco during the week-end.

Including Sunday's games, the big league attendance total was 2,742,219 compared to 3,291,482 in 1960. The Minnesota Twins have a home attendance of 211,097, tops in the American League. The Angels, the other new team in the junior circuit, have played before 135,280 in Lso Angeles.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Irving J. Bissell, 73, vice chairman of the board of Bissell, Inc., died Sunday of a heart attack.

Snowden Among Top Sophomores For Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's once-famous football foundry, reacting in the last few years as if it's strikebound, shows signs of some stoking up this season.

Joe Kuharich, who began his head coaching tenur with a 5-5 mark in 1959, has rounded up some of the best looking freshmen seen in these parts for several years.

In what amounted to a frosh frolic, the Irish varsity hung a record 50-7 defeat on the old timers in the annual spring game Saturday. Admittedly, the old timers probably were the weakest ever assembled in the 31 games of the series.

But, still, the doings of the rookies cannot be denied. Frank Budka, 180-pound quarterback from Pompano Beach, Fla., directed the varsity to six of the seven touchdowns. He passed for two and ran eight yards for another.

Daryle Lamonica of Fresno, Calif., who will be a junior, may have a difficut job keeping the No. 1 quarterback position.

Jim Snowden of Youngstown, Ohio, a 6-4, 230-pound fullback, carried the ball only four times before being sidelined with a bruised knee. The converted end combines smashing power with unusual quickness— and also is a fine pass receiver.

Pipers Name McLendon To Coaching Job

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Johnny McLendon, one of basketball's most successful coaches, is moving into the one field he has not yet conquered—pro basketball.

The cage mentor, 45, was signed to a two-year contract Monday night to coach the Cleveland entry in the new American Basketball League. McLendon becomes one of the first Negro coaches in professional sports.

McLendon has compiled the amazing record of 512 victories and 122 defeats as coach of Lawrence (Kan.) Memorial High School, Tennessee State College and the Cleveland Pipers of the National Industrial Basketball League. The Pipers won the league title this past season, then went on to capture the Amateur Athletic Union crown.

The teams in the new league, in addition to Cleveland, are Chicago, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Washington, Kansas City and Honolulu.

Nieder Puts Shot Better

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bill Nieder, Olympic shotput champion and world record holder, admitted today he flopped badly in his debut as a professional boxer. But he plans to pursue a career in the ring.

He knocked him down once for the mandatory eight-count. When Nieder got up he swung wildly. Wiley closed in and continued hitting away until Nieder staggered across the ring, fell near the ropes and rolled off. He missed the ledge under the ring and thus failed to get back into the ring before the 10-count.

Nieder weighed 216, Wiley 198.

Law Slated To Hurl For Bucs Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates may get an answer to a big question tonight. Is Vernon Law ready to return to regular pitching rotation?

Law is scheduled to pitch against the St. Louis Cardinals in his first appearance since April 29 when he started having trouble with his shoulder.

Doctors pinned the trouble on a torn rotator muscle. The big righthander received heat treatments and has been working out for the past week.

Law has a 20-9 record last year and was a big gun in the Pirates' drive to win the pennant. But it's been a different story so far this season. He has lost three games while winning only one.

That victory came on his last outing when his shoulder got so bad he couldn't finish. It was against Cincinnati. Law had held the Redlegs to only one hit in the first six innings, then softened in the seventh. He complained about the shoulder.

Pirate southpaw Harvey Haddix was working against Bob Gibson There was no score.

Pittsburgh remained in third place in the National League standings Monday, but dropped to three games behind the pace-setting San Francisco Giants.

ELHS May Join League . . .

Plans are on the drawing table for what could be one of the strongest basketball leagues in Ohio High School basketball.

They will be put into motion on May 24 when top schools from the area, making up the eight-team league, will send representatives to a meeting at the Lape Hotel in Salem.

East Liverpool is one of the eight schools. The other powers are Steubenville Big Red, Salem, Canton McKinley, Niles, Warren, Massillon and Alliance. Cuyahoga Falls is another possibility, but it is already a member of another league.

They don't come much tougher than the above list and East Liverpool already meets five out of the seven opponents. The only teams not listed on the Potters' schedule are Steubenville Big Red. The two schools broke off relations several seasons ago.

The loop isn't expected to get under way until the 1962-63 season. One round of competition would be played, meaning each school would play seven league contests.

Each school listed has been contacted and has expressed an interest in forming a league. Coaches John Cabas of Salem and Dick Boyd of Warren have been instrumental in laying the groundwork.

LL Officials Disappointed . . .

LITTLE LEAGUE officials in East Liverpool have announced that there won't be a Little League preview or opening ceremonies this season because the fields are not in shape.

Officials have expressed their disappointment over the poor turnouts for work parties. Only two or three fathers are showing up to help with the fields and other work, and as a result progress was slow.

Brief ceremonies will be held at Hilbert Field on opening day of the season Monday.

This is the first year since we can remember that the Little League hasn't held its annual preview, but in view of the circumstances we can understand why.

Think You Have Troubles? . . .

YOU THINK you have troubles. Listen to the St. Bonaventure story. The Niagara Falls Gazette said in its Sunday editions that the Bonnies, third ranked college team in the nation last season, may drop basketball.

The newspapers said that St. Bonaventure officials may announce the action sometime this week.

The reason why — the newspaper said St. Bonaventure officials were concerned with what the papers termed "unsavory conditions" that had developed in college basketball recently.

The paper cited the gambling scandals that had developed during the past season.

Besides the scandal, here are some other reasons. St. Bonaventure lost coach Eddie Donavan last week to the New York Knickerbockers of the NBA. The school's sophomore scoring ace, Fredie Crawford, and All-American senior Tom Stith came down with tuberculosis after the season and were sent to sanitoriums.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

As Coach Bob Hedmond pointed out, this was the first year the Potters haven't had that one big scorer in track. For the past two years it was Bob Mackall. And this year it would have been hurdler Bob Christen, but he was over aged.

Quartermiler Bill Flanigan was the best of the Potter performers, along with the other members of the mile relay team.

This year's county meet saw two Class A schools — Columbiana and United — finish ahead of East Liverpool. The Potters finished third the last three years but fell to sixth this time.

WE WERE informed that Tom McCall, freshman basketball coach at Beaver Local, is receiving a lot of consideration for the head cage job along with Flody Suarez, who was reserve coach last season.

Board Equalizes Salaries Of Grid, Cage Coaches

A $150 increase in Basketball Coach Jim Harris' pay to equalize the salaries of the head football and basketball coaches was approved Monday night by the Board of Education.

The salary adjustment will raise Harris' coaching pay to $950 above the teaching schedule, the same amount that Football Coach Bob Hedmond will draw.

Supt. Ralph E. Betts said the increase was started last year when the board approved a $100 increase in Harris' pay.

In response to a question from James Moss, the superintendent said schools follow one of two policies. In some cases, schools believe the salaries should be equal while in others the football coach is paid slightly more.

After the motion approving the increase was made, it was amended to include a phrase concerning equalizing the salaries at the suggestion of James Lowe. Board members explained the addition of the phrase establishes the board's policy on salaries for the two head coaches.

The board also approved a $50 adjustment in the salary allowance for the girls' intramural director from $150 to $200, equalizing it with the allowance for the boys' intramural director.

It also accepted the resignation of William Erlitz, Westgate Junior High teacher and football coach. Erlitz will join the staff of Lou Venditti at Canton Lincoln next fall.

Boxer Fighting For Life Today After Injury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lightweight boxer Harry Campbell, an Olympic quarter-finalist last year, battled for his life after suffering head injuries in a pro bout Monday night.

The bell saved him from a knockout, and then he slumped in his corner unconscious. Dr. Don Lastreto, ring physician, ordered the Negro fighter taken to Park Emergency Hospital, next door to the Kezar Pavilion fight scene.

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ed Mathews, after hitting just one home run in Milwaukee's first 21 games, belted a pair for a total of five in four games Monday night as the Braves defeated Los Angeles 7-5, handing Johnny Podres his first defeat. That dropped the Dodgers two games behind San Francisco in the National League race. The Giants whipped the Chicago Cubs 14-1.

Lew Burdette (3-1) won two in a row for the first time this season — and also drove in three Braves runs with a single and his first home run of the year. It was the eighth straight success in the Coliseum for Burdette, who gave up seven hits.

Wally Moon, retaining the NL bat lead at .384, tripled and scored the first run for the Dodgers by stealing home with two out in the second inning. Charlie Neal hit a two-run homer in the ninth.

The Braves wrapped up in six innings, chasing Podres (5-1), who had won seven in a row over two seasons.

San Francisco collected 18 hits and four of them were home runs — two by Orlando Cepeda, who drove in five runs. His first followed a grand-slam by Felipe Alou in the first inning and chased starter Dick Ellsworth (0-3) before he had retired a man. Mattey Alou, Felipe's kid brother, hit the other homer, his first in the majors, in the eighth.

About 150 attended, including borough administrators and borough officials.

Midland Post To Hold Meet Wednesday

Midland's invitational track meet, sponsored by American Legion Post 481, will be held Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Midland stadium.

Seven teams are reported entered. Tom Bryan is in charge for the post, assisted by Lawrence Novak, Lincoln High track coach.

Gold, silver and bronze metals will be awarded along with ribbons and a team trophy.

Plans for the event were discussed at a meeting of the post Monday evening. Plans also were discussed for the post's Memorial Day parade and ceremonies May 30. A report was given on the Sons of the Legion.

Harry Hulton, who also is Beaver County commander, reported the post will present medals to Lincoln High's three Legion essay contest winners during an Awards Day May 24 at the school. The outstanding 8th Grade boy and girl also will receive awards.

Power Outshines Grant's 3-Hitter

BOSTON (AP)—The first massacre of Fenway Park by the Indians took place on Sept. 13, 1957 and Cleveland collected all the scalps that night.

The Indians performed another raid on Beantown territory Monday—this time in broad daylight—as they banged out 21 hits and romped to a 13-2 triumph over the Boston Red Sox behind Jim (Mudcat) Grant's three-hitter.

That 1957 contest was a night affair and the Indians had 21 hits en route to a 16-3 victory behind Mike Garcia. Some oddities of the two games:

Vic Wertz knocked in five runs for the Tribe in 1957. Now he's doing the same job for Boston and drew an 0-for-4 horsecollar.

The center fielder for the Red Sox four seasons ago was a fellow by the name of Jim Piersall, who now wears Cleveland colors. Piersall collected four hits in six trips for the Indians Monday.

The 21-hit total was the highest for Cleveland since that wild night in Fenway.

The bonanza hit production—something the Tribe has lacked this campaign—took some notice away from Grant's second victory without a loss. He walked five and struck out three. Only one hit, Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer in the fourth, was solidly struck. The other hits, by ex-Indian Russ Nixon and rookie Chuck Schilling, were a blooper in the seventh inning and an infield scratch in the eighth.

Every Cleveland player got at least one hit. Grant had two, Tito Francona, Woodie Held and John Romano each had three, with Romano connecting for his third home run.

The Indians scored six runs in the second inning on seven hits, counted two more on Romano's homer in the seventh and put the icing on with five tallies on six hits in the final inning.

A big day in Boston for Piersall is always something special. It's his hometown. "I got only three hours sleep," said Piersall, now a .328 hitter. "I went home to see the family and I was so excited I couldn't sleep."

Pilot Lands Big Plane Safely On Defective Unit

CINCINNATI (AP) — "It really turned out all right," said the pilot after landing his big jet airliner on a defective landing gear. "It was mostly just a matter of delay."

There were 55 passengers aboard the American Airlines 707 jet liner that returned for an untroubled landing Monday night nearly an hour after takeoff.

The pilot, Capt. J. K. Thomas of New York, said maintenance experts had assured him by radio as he circled the field that the defective gear would hold up during landing.

He said, "It was no gamble. It has apparently happened before and they knew it was safe."

However, the airport took no chances and the landing runway was lined with firefighting and rescue trucks and men.

Another plane was flown to Cincinnati to resume the flight later in the evening.

Some of the passengers said later the plane's trouble made them uneasy, but they remained calm, according to Thomas.

More 'Freedom Rides' To Test Desegregation

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)— More "freedom rides" to test the speed of desegregation in the South were hinted today after an integrated group flew here safely to end an 11-day bus-plane trip in Southern states.

The integrationists' journey ended here shortly before midnight but not before a violent reception in Alabama involving the beating of several persons and two bomb scares at a Birmingham airport.

Almost as large was the group of uniformed police and plainclothesmen which swarmed through the terminal, warding off any threat of another night of violence.

Dr. Walter Bergman, a 61, former faculty member at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University, and a member of the traveling CORE unit, said the group found "absolutely no compliance" to desegregation.

Storm Wrecks Wall At Bowling Alleys

Frank Susa, proprietor, said persons in the practically new building, fearing its total collapse, fled to the basement after part of the wall tumbled. Damage was not estimated immediately. Susa also said a car outside the building was overturned by the winds. Several trees in Circleville were felled.

Will Cut 2,500

CINCINNATI (AP) — General Electric Co. has started to cut 2,500 employes by June, but will still be Greater Cincinnati's biggest single employer with about 11,500 workers. A spokesman said GE had expected to release an added 1,000 employes after cutback of its atom plane engine project but increased work at the nearby Evendale facility reduced the size of the cuts.

Plan Of De-Emphasis Over Scandal Expected For N. Carolina Schools

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A gambling scandal that has reached into two major North Carolina colleges may spell the doom of big time college basketball in the state.

A plan of de-emphasis is expected to be presented next Monday when the trustees of the consolidated University of North Carolina hold their regular quarterly meeting here.

North Carolina State College Coach Everett Case may have written the obituary Monday when he said:

"Basketball is meant to be a game. Down here it has turned into a war. I'm ready for a truce."

Three of Case's players, including team captain Stan Niewierowski, have been charged with bribe-taking in the point shaving scandal which earlier had reached the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The two institutions are under the control of the consolidated university's board.

Meanwhile, District Solicitor (prosecutor) Lester Chalmers said new warrants have been issued charging Joseph Green of New York City with bribing two N.C. State players to fix the N.C. State games at Duke and North Carolina.

Chalmers indicated more warrants were still to come. In response to a question, he said it appeared they would involve gamblers rather than players.

Gov. Terry Sanford told a news conference Monday he feels careful consideration should be given to de-emphasis of big time basketball. Sanford, who is ex-officio chairman of the university board, said he understood a de-emphasis plan would be presented to the group Monday.

Twins Gain 4th Straight

Tigers Top Orioles, 10-5; Increase Lead To 3 Games

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Camilo Pascual, after losing three straight, pitched a four-hit shutout Monday night as Minnesota beat the Chicago White Sox 5-0. It was the fourth in a row for the third place Twins, who moved within one game of idle, second place New York in the American League race.

The Detroit Tigers padded their lead to three games by belting Baltimore 10-5; Cleveland rapped Boston 13-2, behind the three-hit pitching of Mudcat Grant, and Kansas City, with Joe Gordon managing from the press box, defeated the Los Angeles Angels 5-3.

Harmon Killebrew, after going 0-for-4 in Sunday's game against the Angels, had two of the Twins' eight hits. Cal McLish (2-3) was the loser.

The Tigers tagged 15 hits at Baltimore and broke a 3-3 tie in a five-run seventh inning, with Dick Brown driving in two runs. Dick Hall (1-2) was the loser. Right-hander Peul Foytack (2-2) allowed 11 hits, one a homer by Whitey Herzog.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, a right-hander, didn't allow a hit until Red Sox rookie Carl Yastrzemski hammered a two-run homer in the fourth inning. But the Indians had backed Grant (2-0) with a six-run second inning. Ted Wills (1-2) lost it after coming on in the first when starter Tom Brewer suffered a shoulder injury.

When the A's loaded the bases on walks in the eighth inning, pinch-hitter Lou Klimchock came through with a tie-breaking single. Lefty Bud Daley (4-4) was the winner with reliever Ted Bowsfield (0-1) the loser.

Managing In Pressbox Pays Off For A's, Gordon

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Gordon managed the Kansas City Athletics from the press box Monday night and discovered what every baseball writer has claimed for years—it's better that way.

The proof was a 5-3 remote control victory over the Los Angeles Angels and a promise from Gordon that he would be back tonight with the telephone glued to his ear for a second trial run.

The A's skipper yielded to a suggestion by Frank Lane, the Athletics' general manager, and joined the news contingent. He relayed his directions by telephone to Coach Ed Fitzgerald who, in some shadowy manner, sent them to Coach Jo Jo White in the third base box.

"I missed the close contact with my players and I don't think this is the ideal way to manage a baseball club but it has some value," said Gordon. "You can see things you can't see from the low level of the dugout. I noticed right away that one of my outfielders was playing too close for those Los Angeles power hitters. One of our better batters was standing too close to the plate. I couldn't have seen either of these flaws from the dugout. Actually, Frank and I tried this to see if it wouldn't be valuable to have someone up here all the time—if not the manager, one of our coaches."

And, said Gordon, he found out that rookie shortstop Dick Howser is covering even more ground than he thought.

"I knew he was good but from this vantage point some 30 feet above the playing field, I could see how good he really is," Gordon added.

Gordon didn't actually rub shoulders with the newsmen as Lane often does while offering salty comments on both his own and visiting clubs.

Joe had a separate compartment where he could conduct his business without ribbing or suggestions.

Attendance Dips Around Major Loops

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball attendance showed an over-all deficit of 17 per cent through Sunday's games despite large crowds in New York and San Francisco during the week-end.

The Yankees' four-game series with Detroit drew 82,560 customers boosting the New York gate to 141,496. The Yanks and Baltimore Orioles are the only clubs in the majors ahead of their 1960 attendance totals.

The Orioles, in 11 home dates, have drawn 157,023. Last year in the same number of home dates they had pulled 136,529 fans through the turnstiles.

The Giants-Braves three game set in San Francisco drew 82,560. This lifted San Francisco's aggregate to 276,243, but left the Giants still 107,000 behind last year.

Including Sunday's games, the big league attendance total was 2,742,219 compared to 3,291,482 in 1960. The Minnesota Twins have a home attendance of 211,097, tops in the American League. The Angels, the other new team in the junior circuit, have played before 135,280 in Lso Angeles.

Heart Attack Fatal

Snowden Among Top Sophomores For Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's once-famous football foundry, reacting in the last few years as if it's strikebound, shows signs of some stoking up this season.

A group of sophomores-to-be gives rise to a bit of optimism after the Irish plunged to a 2-8 record in 1960.

Joe Kuharich, who began his head coaching tenur with a 5-5 mark in 1959, has rounded up some of the best looking freshmen seen in these parts for several years.

In what amounted to a frosh frolic, the Irish varsity hung a record 50-7 defeat on the old timers in the annual spring game Saturday. Admittedly, the old timers probably were the weakest ever assembled in the 21 games of the series.

But, still, the doings of the rookies cannot be denied. Frank Budka, 180-pound quarterback from Pompano Beach, Fla., directed the varsity to six of the seven touchdowns. He passed for two and ran eight yards for another.

Daryle Lamonica of Fresno, Calif., who will be a junior, may have a difficut job keeping the No. 1 quarterback position.

Jim Snowden of Youngstown, Ohio, a 6-4, 230-pound fullback, carried the ball only four times before being sidelined with a bruised knee. The converted end combines smashing power with unusual quickness— and also is a fine pass receiver.

Pipers Name McLendon To Coaching Job

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Johnny McLendon, one of basketball's most successful coaches, is moving into the one field he has not yet conquered—pro basketball.

The cage mentor, 45, was signed to a two-year contract Monday night to coach the Cleveland entry in the new American Basketball League. McLendon becomes one of the first Negro coaches in professional sports.

McLendon has compiled the amazing record of 512 victories and 122 defeats as coach of Lawrence (Kan.) Memorial High School, Tennessee State College and the Cleveland Pipers of the National Industrial Basketball League. The Pipers won the league title this past season, then went on to capture the Amateur Athletic Union crown.

The bulk of the Pipers' team played under McLendon on America's all-victorious eight-game tour of Soviet Russia a few weeks ago.

The teams in the new league, in addition to Cleveland, are Chicago, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Washington, Kansas City and Honolulu.

Nieder Puts Shot Better

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bill Nieder, Olympic shotput champion and world record holder, admitted today he flopped badly in his debut as a professional boxer. But he plans to pursue a career in the ring.

The 26-year-old native of Santa Monica, Calif., said he felt "pretty low" after being knocked out in the first round of a scheduled six round fight Monday night at the Alhambra Boxing Club.

Jim Wiley, a relatively unknown Philadelphia fighter with an 11-9-6 record, ended the bout at 2:10 of the round without Nieder landing a punch.

He knocked him down once for the mandatory eight-count. When Nieder got up he swung wildly. Wiley closed in and continued hitting away until Nieder staggered across the ring, fell near the ropes and rolled off. He missed the ledge under the ring and thus failed to get back into the ring before the 10-count.

Wooster had 669, Oberlin 674, Heidelberg 681, Marietta 694, Capital 695, Otterbein 705, Kenyon 708, Muskingum 714 and Hiram 749.

Hot Stove League To Conduct Canvass

A house-to-house canvass will be held in Industry Borough for a week beginning Monday to raise funds for the Hot Stove League.

Law Slated To Hurl For Bucs Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates may get an answer to a big question tonight. Is Vernon Law ready to return to regular pitching rotation?

Law is scheduled to pitch against the St. Louis Cardinals in his first appearance since April 29 when he started having trouble with his shoulder.

Doctors pinned the trouble on a torn rotator muscle. The big righthander received heat treatments and has been working out for the past week.

Law has a 20-9 record last year and was a big gun in the Pirates' drive to win the pennant. But it's been a different story so far this season. He has lost three games while winning only one.

That victory came on his last outing when his shoulder got so bad he couldn't finish. It was against Cincinnati. Law had held the Redlegs to only one hit in the first six innings, then softened in the seventh. He complained about the shoulder.

Law will be opposed tonight by southpaw Curt Simmons 1-2.

The Pirate-Card series opener Monday night was rained out before two innings were completed.

Pirate southpaw Harvey Haddix was working against Bob Gibson There was no score.

Pittsburgh remained in third place in the National League standings Monday, but dropped to three games behind the pace-setting San Francisco Giants.

Fellow Captures 2nd In Feature At Beulah

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fellow, a 7-year-old chestnut gelding, won the mile and 70-yard feature race at Beulah Park Monday, chalking up his second victory in three outings at the current meeting.

Fellow, with Billy Sackett up, went the distance in 1:43 4-5 and paid, as favorite, $5.40 in the $1,200 purse event for 4-year-olds and up. Pink Toast, who took the lead at the top of the home stretch and held it until the last 70 yards, finished second.

Penn State Cage Star Won't Play Pro Ball

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The owner of the Pittsburgh Rens of the new American Basketball League says Mark Dumars, former Penn State basketball player, will not play professional ball.

Lenny Litman said Monday he has received a letter from Dumars stating he has decided to take up a business career instead of pro basketball.

CINCINNATI (AP) — "It really turned out all right," said the pilot after landing his big jet airliner on a defective landing gear. "It was mostly just a matter of delay."

There were 55 passengers aboard the American Airlines 707 jet liner that returned for an untroubled landing Monday night nearly an hour after takeoff.

The pilot, Capt. J. K. Thomas of New York, said maintenance experts had assured him by radio as he circled the field that the defective gear would hold up during landing.

He said, "It was no gamble. It has apparently happened before and they knew it was safe."

Thomas said a so-called leveling strut in the landing gear pulled off center, preventing the gear from retracting.

Another plane was flown to Cincinnati to resume the flight later in the evening.

Some of the passengers said later the plane's trouble made them uneasy, but they remained calm, according to Thomas.

More 'Freedom Rides' To Test Desegregation

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—More "freedom rides" to test the speed of desegregation in the South were hinted today after an integrated group flew here safely to end an 11-day bus-plane trip in Southern states.

The integrationists' journey ended here shortly before midnight but not before a violent reception in Alabama involving the beating of several persons and two bomb scares at a Birmingham airport.

Almost as large was the group of uniformed police and plainclothesmen which swarmed through the terminal, warding off any threat of another night of violence.

Dr. Walter Bergman, a 61, former faculty member at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University, and a member of the traveling CORE unit, said the group found "absolutely no compliance" to desegregation.

Storm Wrecks Wall At Bowling Alleys

Frank Susa, proprietor, said persons in the practically new building, fearing its total collapse, fled to the basement after part of the wall tumbled. Damage was not estimated immediately. Susa also said a car outside the building was overturned by the winds. Several trees in Circleville were felled.

Will Cut 2,500

CINCINNATI (AP) — General Electric Co. has started to cut 2,500 employes by June, but will still be Greater Cincinnati's biggest single employer with about 11,500 workers. A spokesman said GE had expected to release an added 1,000 employes after cutback of its atom plane engine project but increased work at the nearby Evendale facility reduced the size of the cuts.
